AGED COUPLE RETURNS TO GRAYLING TO RESIDE.

Elderly Lady Passes Away After Making Long Trip.

A sad death occurred early Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Ambrose Cross passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ambrose McClain.
Mrs. Cross, who was 79 years of age, with her husband arrived Saturday, May 19, from Seattle, Washington, and their daughter, Mrs. McClain had purchased a little home here and was trying to make things comfortable for her aged parents and have them spend their remaining years at their old home here. Her father more feeble than the mother, because of having had two paralytic strokes, did not seem to stand the journey very well, but Mrs. Cross was somewhat tired out, it was that that she had stood it better. She had not been very well for a few days before her death, but her relatives did not become alarmed of her condition.

The family are very well known in Grayling, having resided here for a number of years, coming here in 1884, and residing here until 1908 when they moved to Seattle, Washington. The many friends of this kind old lady will be bereaved on learning of her sudden death.

The funeral is being held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the M. E. church. The ladies of the G. A. R. of which the deceased was a member are attending in a body.

Sarah Jane Hutchinson was born in Escott, Canada, December 25, 1838.
She resided with her parents until 1853, when she was united in marriage to William C. Smith, in Portsmouth township, Michigan, now called Bay City. To this union five children were born, David W., Mariah, Martha M., Sarah J., and John H. Smith, three of whom are living. This husband was a Lieutenant in the Civil War, and was a member of Co. E. of the Fourth Michigan Cavalry. He was killed while leaving the battle field at Dallas, Georgia, in May 25, 1864. On April 23, 1865, Mrs. Smith was united in marriage, this time to Ambrose Cross.
Five children was born to this union, Susan, Cordelia, Joseph, Mary E., and Otto E., three of whom survive to mourn the death of their mother.

In 1881 the family moved from Caro, Tuscola county to Roscommon, returning to Caro in 1883. Residing in Caro for a year the family then came to Grayling, where they had made their home until 1908, when Mr. and Mrs.
Cross left for the West.

Becoming old they had returned to renew acquaintances and enjoy life, when the grim reaper intervened.

Boy Scouts at your Service.

What will "boy scouts" do in war time? This has been asked by many people.

This is to let you know what the local troop will do this summer.

First of all, every scout will see that his own yard is turned into a garden; second, he will give all the time and labor to the troop garden (land for this garden is donated by Mr. R. Hanson) that he possibly can.

Parents, your co-operation in this work is kindly asked. Help the scout master and the local committee to keep all registered scouts active in good wholesome work; third, we will do any service for the village council that they may ask; last of all we are asking for the moral support of the people.

We do not ask for money unless given a fair chance to earn it. We are in need of equipment. You can help us to earn it if you will give us work to do in our spare time.

Scouts can cut grass on the lawns, white-wash chicken houses, run errands, pile wood, etc.

If you see a boy with a scout badge on his coat and who is not working, put him to work. Let every boy scout you meet feel that you expect him to be of service. While we want all scouts to be of service, we also wish to have it understood that there is such a thing as misusing the boy scout slogan: "Do a good turn daily." Some people have the nerve to ask scouts to do things which they themselves could well afford to pay for. A scout does not take money for a good turn, where it is needed, but such a thing as societies asking for boy scouts to clean up after their social doings is misusing service.

The boy scouts are protected by the government and we wish to have the moral support of all citizens.

Our scouts in Grayling do not have the courage that real scouts should have. This is due to the fact that there is a sort of cowardly gang spirit existing among most of our young boys. Some of our boys are not afraid to get out and dress in a clown suit and carry the banner for any show or circus which comes to town, but to carry their own banner on any other day, many have not the courage to do we want boy scouts in Grayling to dare to show themselves on the streets and say to anyone they meet: "I am a Scout, I want to do my duty to God and my country and help people at all times, who need any help."

Mayor's Draft Registry Call

By proclamation of the president of the United States, Tuesday, June 5, has been designated as registration day, on which every male person between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, must present himself at the polling booth in the district in which he lives, to answer such questions as may be asked by the registrars appointed for that purpose.

Failure to comply with the president's decree is punishable by imprisonment.

The governor of this state, in a proclamation issued May 19, has requested that every opportunity be afforded those who are required to register, and suggests that registration day be observed as a holiday throughout Michigan.

I heartily concur in the recommendation and request that where possible the people of this city lay aside their customary labors on this day that the task of registration may be facilitated.

I also ask that the clergy on next Sunday make mention of the day and that prayer be offered for the early termination of the war.

As a reminder of the deep significance attached to the day, I do further request that 7 a. m., the hour set for the commencement of the registration, factory whistles be blown and church and school bells tolled.

I sincerely hope that the response of the young men of this city to the president's call will be earnest and ready and that no action by the authorities will be necessary to obtain an accurate and complete enrollment of the persons of the age required.

T. W. HANSON,
Village President.

Club Ladies Entertained at West Branch.

Twenty club ladies of our city responded to an invitation from the Monday club of West Branch to meet in that city Thursday last for a goodfellowship or reciprocity meeting. Of this number twelve were from the Goodfellowship club and eight from the Woman's club.

The ladies took the afternoon train and were joined enroute by the Gaylord and St. Helens clubs. When the delegation arrived at West Branch they were met and welcomed by the reception committee from the Monday club. As the weather was inclement the West Branch ladies were obliged to change their plans for taking the visiting clubs in autos thru their splendid farming lands, and instead escorted them directly to the Maccabee hall where the meeting was to be held. An informal reception was held and then the ladies were invited to spend an hour at the movies.
On returning to the hall the ladies were ushered to the dining room, which had been prettily decorated with the National colors for the occasion, and were seated at long tables decorated with vases of red carnations. A delicious four course dinner was then served, which surely did great credit to the West Branch ladies. After the dinner Mrs. Parliament, president of the Monday club of West Branch, welcomed the ladies in a very gracious manner, and introduced Mrs.
Bennett as the toastmistress. Mrs.
Bennett presided in a very clever manner and made very ready and spicy replies to the numbers on the program. Those from Grayling who responded to toasts were Mrs. J. Atwood Whitaker of the Woman's club, who gave a very excellent talk on "The Club as the Public Step-mother," and Mrs. Olaf Michelson of the Goodfellowship club, who responded in a very able and pleasing manner to the toast "Goodfellowship." Every number on the program was splendid and much enjoyed by all present.

After the program the ladies retired to the assembly room where West Branch talent, of which that city may well be proud, gave readings, musical selections, and a playette which kept the crowd in good humor.

The meeting was a splendid success and the visiting clubs went away feeling very grateful to their hostesses for such a pleasant and profitable day.

The ladies had planned on returning to Grayling on the night train, but on finding it derailed the West Branch ladies very hospitably opened their homes to their guests for the night, and so the ladies returned the following morning.

Food Preparedness Committee Re- ports Concerning Our Neigh- boring Counties.

In a report sent out by the Food Preparedness committee of the State, the County agent of Otsego county, R. D.
Bailey says:

Winter wheat, rye and grass normal, 25 per cent increase potato acreage.
Blanks returned from Antrim and Otsego counties show farmers will increase potatoes 350 acres, beans 274, corn 280. In Montmorency county, Andrew Green of Detroit, advancing to farmers 1500 bushels seed potatoes, 2000 bushels beans on six months notes without interest and deposited $5,000 for his agent to loan for seed at low or no interest. Handicap in help and money and fear profit not warrant hiring help and money at high rate.
Guaranteed minimum price greatest help to speed up, most all get seed loans, some complaint exorbitant rate; district can supply seed except beans for Otsego which can get thru W. J.
Orr.

In the same report Wm. F. Johnston, County agent says of Roscommon county:

Potatoes less, beans hundred acres more, corn, oats, rye about normal; greatest handicap lack of money; substantial farmers can get money, new farmers cannot. Recommend as before state underwrite local banks, allowing them to take crop securities and insuring loss on such securities; risk small, will inspire confidence.

I have about 500 new farmers in my territory who are not bankable risks and I anticipate quite a strenuous time with them. Maybe I am mistaken, and overcautions. My sympathies naturally run to them, and having lived among them all my life it is hard to turn my back on them, but if we can get the responsible farmer hustling I presume we will accomplish our object and get the crops.

NO ONE EXCUSED FROM REGISTERING

All of Specified Age Must Respond on June 5 to Call of Nation.

QUERIES TO BE ANSWERED

Government Has Issued Circulars Making It Easier for Those Who Register to Respond to Interrogations That Will Be Made.

There is but one answer to every question asked regarding registration, and it is this:

"Every man between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, inclusive, whether native born, an alien, or even an alien enemy, must register June 5. This applies also to invalids and persons who are ill. A man is thirty until his thirty-first birthday anniversary." The government has adopted a plan to facilitate and simplify the filling in of conscription registration cards June 5. Circulars containing the twelve questions to be asked and advice as to how they should be answered have been prepared for distribution.

Answers to the Questions.
The circular, which bears the heading, "How to Answer Questions on Registration Cards," reads as follows: "Questions will be asked for you to answer in the order in which they appear on this paper. These questions are set out below with detailed information to help you answer them."

"Do not write on, mark or otherwise mutilate these instructions. Do not remove them. They should be carefully read so that you will have your answers ready when you go before the registrar."

"All answers will be written on the registration card in ink by the registrar, who should be careful to spell all names correctly and to write legibly."

"1. Name in full. Age in years."
"This means all your names spelled out in full."

"State your age today in years only. Disregard additional months or days. Be prepared to say 'nineteen' or 'twenty-five' not 'nineteen years three months or like'."

"2. Home address. Place where you have your permanent home, not the place where you work. Be prepared to give the address in this way: 232 Main street, Chicago, Cook county, Illinois; that is, give number and name of street first, then town, then county and state."

Have Birthday Date Ready.

"Date of birth."
"Write your birthday (month, day and year) on a piece of paper before going to the registrar and give the paper to him the first thing. Example: August 5, 1904."

"If you do not remember the year, start to answer as you would if someone asked you your birthday, as 'August 5.' Then say, 'on my birthday this year I will be (or was) — years old.' The registrar will then fill in the year of birth. Many people do not carry in mind the year they were born. This may be obtained by the registrar by subtracting the age in years on this year's birthday from 1917."

"4. Are you (1) a natural born citizen; (2) a naturalized citizen; (3) an alien; (4) or have you declared your intention to become a citizen (specify which)?"

"(1) If you were born in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, you are a natural born citizen, no matter what may have been the citizenship or nationality of your parents. If you were born in Porto Rico you are a citizen of the United States, unless you were born abroad, you are still a citizen of the United States, if your father was a citizen of the United States at the time you were born, unless you have expatriated yourself."

"(2) You are a naturalized citizen if you have completed your naturalization; that is, if you have 'taken final papers.' But you are not a citizen if you have only declared your intention to become a citizen (that is, if you have only 'taken out first papers'). In the latter case you are only a 'declarant'."

"You are also a naturalized citizen if, although foreign born, your father or surviving parent became fully naturalized while you were under twenty-one years of age, and if you came to the United States under twenty-one."

"(3) You are a declarant if, although a citizen or subject of some foreign country, you have declared on oath before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States. Receipt from the clerk of the court of the certified copy of such declaration is often called 'taking out first papers.' You are not a declarant if your first paper was taken out after September 28, 1906, and is more than seven years old."

"(4) You are an alien if you do not fall within one of the three classes above mentioned."

"5. Where were you born?"

"First name the town, then the state, then the country, as 'Columbus, O.; Vienna, Austria; Paris, France; Sofia, Bulgaria.'"

"6. If not a citizen, of what country are you a citizen or subject?"

"This need be answered only by aliens and declarants. Remember that a 'declarant' is not yet a citizen of the United States."

"7. What is your present trade, occupation or office?"

"This does not ask what you once did, nor what you have done most of the time, nor what you are best fitted to do. It asks what your job is right now. State briefly, as farmer, miner, student, laborer (on farm, in rolling mill, in automobile, wagon or other factory, etc. If you hold an office under state or federal government, name the office you hold."

"8. By whom employed? Where employed?"

"If you are working for an individual, firm, corporation or association state its name. If in business, trade, profession or employment for yourself, so state. If you are an officer of the state or federal government say whether your office is under the United States, the state, the county or a municipality. In answer to the question as to where you are employed give the town, county and state where you work."

"9. Have you a father, mother, wife, child under twelve or a sister or brother under twelve solely dependent upon you for support (specify which)?"

"Consider your answer thoughtfully. If it is true that there is another mouth than your own which you alone have a duty to feed do not let your military ardor interfere with the wish of the nation to reduce war's misery to a minimum. On the other hand, unless the person you have in mind is solely dependent on you do not hide behind petticoats or children."

the United States. If an alien or declarant, state the name of your country, as 'France,' 'Japan,' 'China,' etc."

"10. Married or single (which)?"
"This does not ask whether you were once married, but whether you are married now. In answer to the question as to your race state briefly whether Caucasian, Mongolian, negro, Malayan or Indian."

"11. What military service have you had? Rank? Branch? Years? Nation or state?"
"No matter what country you served, you must give complete information. In answering these questions first name your rank, using one of the following words: 'Commissioned officer,' 'noncommissioned officer,' 'private.' Next, state branch in which you served in one of the following words: 'Infantry,' 'cavalry,' 'artillery,' 'medical,' 'signal,' 'aviation,' 'supply,' 'marine,' 'navy.' Next, state the number of years' service, not counting time spent in the reserve. Finally, name the nation or state you served. If you served under the United States or one of the states of the United States, name your service in one of the following terms: 'National Guard' (of such and such a state), 'militia' (of such and such a state), 'volunteers' (United States or regular army/navy) of United States."

"12. Do you claim exemption from draft? Specify grounds."
"Because you claim exemption from draft, it by no means follows that you are exempt. For the information of the war department you should make a claim now if you intend to prosecute it. Some persons will be exempted on account of their occupations or offices, some on account of the fact that they have relatives dependent upon them for support. Your answer touching these things will be important in supporting the claim you now intend to make in your answer to the present questions. Be sure, therefore, that the grounds you now state are in conformity with your answers to questions 7 and 8."

"In stating grounds you claim as exempting you use one of the following terms: If you claim to be an executive, legislative or judicial officer of the state or nation, name your office, and say whether it is an office of the state or nation. If you claim to be a member of a religious sect whose creed forbids its members to participate in war in any form, simply name the sect. If you are employed in the transmission of the United States mails or as an artificer or workman in an armory, arsenal or navy yard of the United States, or if you are a mariner employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, so state. If you are a felon or otherwise morally deficient and desire to claim exemption on that ground, state your ground briefly. If you claim physical disability, state that briefly. If you claim exemption on any other ground, state your ground briefly."

Only One Day to Register.
The war department wishes to impress upon the people that there is only one day for registration. All males between the designated ages must register on the day set. The fact that five days were allowed for the placing of the necessary blank forms in the hands of registrars appears to have misled some headline writers. One day only—the day fixed in the president's proclamation—will be devoted to registration."

States in Rivalry for Honor.
Not only has the individual citizenry of the country made a remarkable response to the registration call, but the states through their official heads have indicated such zeal that there is great rivalry among some of the commonwealths for the honor of making the first complete registration returns."

The country under the direction of army officers. This will enable those in charge of operations to devote their entire energy to turning out competent aviators, who will take their place as reserve lieutenants in the signal corps."

The schools which have been designated to do the elementary work are the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University, Ohio State University, University of Illinois, University of Texas and the University of California."

Six Colleges Designated by the War Department as Points for the Instruction of Aviators.

The work of turning out army aviators will be quickened 50 per cent as the result of an order issued by the war department."

In the future the groundwork and elements of aerodynamics will be taught to army aviator students at six of the larger universities throughout

NEWS REVIEW OF THE PAST WEEK

Events in Austria-Hungary Are Indicative of a Break With Germany.

KAISER'S MAN, TISZA, IS OUT

France's Reply to Russia's Peace Policy—Italians Make Another Big Advance Toward Trieste—House of Representatives Passes Great-est of War Tax Bills.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Austria-Hungary stepped into the limelight last week, and the developments in the dual monarchy were not calculated to please Kaiser Wilhelm.

In the first place, Count Tisza, premier of Hungary, the "iron man" who for years has been the leader of the pro-Germans of Austria-Hungary, was finally forced out of office, together with his entire cabinet. Then came the story from the Swiss Catholic paper, that Empress Zita had publicly stated that Austria would soon be at peace, a consummation for which both she and the emperor had been striving.

This statement of the empress was borne out by the peace discussions in the Vienna papers. They printed Austria's repudiation of annexation and indemnity claims with reference to Russia; and then went to the astonishing length of announcing that Austria was ready to abandon all claims to additional territory on its southern frontier, meaning in the Balkans, and even might consider Italy's claims to Trieste and the Trentino. If all this is true, Austria-Hungary is indeed tired of the war and may be speedily approaching the breaking point with Germany.

Trying to Hold Russia Steady.

The so-called passing of the crisis in Russia has not relieved to any great extent the anxieties of the other allies as to the future conduct of that nation. Its armies still rest passive along the eastern fronts, the soldiers fraternizing with the common enemy, despite the appeals of War Minister Kerensky and others of the government. Admiral Goltshak, commander of the Russian Black sea fleet, after a visit to the front, said: "The army may be said to have practically concluded peace with Germany at a moment when a Russian offensive might have played a decisive part in the European campaign."

Albert Thomas, French minister of munitions, told the workmen's and soldiers' delegates in Moscow that thousands of French and British soldiers were perishing while awaiting Russia's co-operation, on which they had a right to count. Government officials and delegates all have small effect on the individual soldiers. Addressing a convention of Russian army and navy commanders, commander in chief Alexieff pleaded with them to bring the soldiers back to their duty, and to stand firm for the prosecution of the war, and this they promised with great enthusiasm.

The council of peasants' deputies on Thursday passed a resolution supporting the present government and ministry.

Ribot Tells France's Aims.

The ruling powers in Russia, if they can be called such, cling to the idea that the other entente allies can be brought to adopt the policy of a peace without annexations or indemnities, and desire a conference for the purpose of modifying the demands to be made on the central powers. Premier Ribot's reply to this is that restoration of "lost provinces" is not to be considered annexation, and that indemnity for ravages in invaded lands is a contribution which is inflicted as a fine for wrong done, a requirement which, both law and equity demand. France, he said, could not oppress any nationality, even that of its enemies, and it seeks, not vengeance, but justice.

When reports of this speech reached Washington the state department let

Viviani, on His Return to France, Quotes President Wilson's Words of Encouragement.

Paris.—Enormous crowds, cheering tumultuously, welcomed the French mission to the United States on its arrival here from America. Premier Ribot, Minister of the Interior Malvy and other members of the cabinet were at the station to welcome the envoys.

"Why, this is like New York," said

Marshal Joffre as the automobiles which conveyed the members of the mission were halted on account of the density of the cheering crowd. The police lines were broken through by the throngs of spectators, who surrounded the automobiles waving flags and handkerchiefs.

Premier Ribot congratulated the members of the mission upon the results of their trip to America, as did the other cabinet members. Various generals and admirals were at the station to meet their respective chiefs, as well as numerous members of parliament. All the way from Brest, at Laval, Rennes and Chartres, crowds filled the stations and M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre received deputations of the principal authorities.

After the official reception was over M. Viviani, discussing his departure from Washington, said: "I told President Wilson how deeply touched I was by the manifestations of the sympathy of the American people. The president replied simply: 'We are brothers in the same cause.'" report came the announcement that German submarines had sunk the British transport Transylvania and French steamer Sontay, in the Mediterranean with the loss of 455 lives. Another vessel torpedoed was an unnamed American steamer of 8,000 tons carrying a cargo for Switzerland. The British admit they are combating the U-boats only with "hard work and infinite pains," but American inventors are still busy. Hudson-Maxim said he had perfected a device that would make ships immune from the submarine peril, and Lewis Herzog, an artist, was said to have devised a method for painting vessels that greatly reduces their visibility at sea. William Macdonald, who came over with the Italian war mission, says the Italians are now using a device with which 18 submarines were destroyed in the first three weeks of its operation.

The first detachment of United States army engineers reached London on Wednesday on its way to France. Two units of the American hospital corps also arrived in England.

Doings in Congress.

The house of representatives on Wednesday passed the greatest war tax bill in the history of any nation. It carries a total of about $3,700,000,000 in all kinds of taxes. The vote on the measure was 329 to 76. There was bitter opposition to many features of the bill, and many of those who finally voted for it said they did so as a matter of patriotism.

The senate finance committee at once began paring down the measure with the intention of reducing the total yield of taxes to about $1,000,000,000, planning to raise the additional $2,700,000,000 by issues of bonds.

The second administration measure dealing with the control of food and other necessities was introduced in the house by Congressman Lever of South Carolina. Herbert C. Hoover, selected by the president to be food administrator, said the bill should make it possible to eliminate hoarding, speculation and waste in distribution.

The chief provisions of the bill are: 1. Prohibits the hoarding or cornering of the necessities of life. 2. Prohibits injurious speculation in the necessities of life and gives the president power to regulate or prohibit the operation of stock or grain exchanges. 3. Gives the president power to fix maximum and minimum prices on necessities of life in certain instances. 4. Gives the president power to prevent use of grain or food in the manufacture of liquor at his discretion. 5. Gives the president power to control all distribution agencies by means of licensing. 6. Gives the president power to fix food and grain standards. 7. Gives the president power to purchase, store and dispose of necessities of life in order to break "corners" and otherwise regulate supply and prices. 8. Provides for taking over by the government of factories, mines, or plants the owners of which do not comply with the president's orders. 9. Gives the president power to permit the mixing of corn and wheat flour and to establish percentage of flour to be obtained from wheat. 10. Provides that the president may delegate any or all of the powers conferred on him by the bill to any person he may designate.

Lansing Against Stockholm Meet.

What America thinks, officially, of the coming peace conference of socialists at Stockholm was made clear last week when Secretary of State Lansing announced that passports would be denied any Americans desiring to go to the meeting and that any Americans participating therein would be liable to prosecution under the Logan act forbidding individual meddling in foreign relations. Evidently, the government believes, as does most of the rest of the world, that the conference is but one of the Kaiser's schemes to disrupt the entente, Russia and all neutral nations were notified of this action.

About the same time rumors came to Washington that Russia already had concluded an armistice with Berlin or Vienna, or both.

That all the fangs were not drawn from the jaws of the old Russian regime was evidenced Tuesday when an unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Minister of War Kerensky.

To add to the perplexities of the provisional government of Russia, the Swedish political party, representing most of the wealthy and influential classes in Finland, met in congress and declared for a complete separation of the grand duchy of Finland from Russia and its establishment as a sovereign state.

Over in China the Kaiser lost another point when President Li Yuan-Hung dismissed from office Premier Tuan Chi-Jui, who had effectually blocked the efforts of the rest of the cabinet and a large part of the parliament to have China declare war on Germany. Dr. Wu Ting-fang, former ambassador to the United States, was made acting premier and authorized to form a new cabinet.

Declaration of war by Brazil against Germany was brought nearer by the request of President Brazil that congress revoke the decree of neutrality and that Brazil take a stand alongside of the United States.

On Battlefields of France.

Such progress as was made during the week in pushing back the Germans in France was mainly by the French in their campaigns south and southeast of Laon and east of Reims. In both sections they gained important ground, seizing the dominating heights above the Ailette valley and in the vicinity of Moronville. General Petain thus put his troops in position to threaten the Reims salient held by the Germans, and to attack the Laon fortress from the rear and compel the retirement of the Teutons in this entire sector.

The British were busy consolidating the positions they had won along the Hindenburg line from Arras to Bullecourt and repelling the repeated and vigorous counter-attacks of the Germans. Von Hindenburg was prodigal in the use of the fresh troops brought from the Russian front, but in every important instance his attempts to regain lost ground was fruitless, and the slaughter was terrible.

In reply to the Italian push toward Trieste the Austrians began a violent counter-offensive in the Trentino, temporarily gaining some ground from which they were driven later. The advance on Trieste slackened somewhat during the first part of the week, but this was only to gather force, for on Thursday General Cadorna's troops smashed their way through the Austrian lines on a wide front from Castagnavizza to the Gulf of Trieste. This front had been strongly fortified above the Austrians and was considered by them almost impregnable. The Italians took the town of Jamiano, and captured 9,000 prisoners, including 300 officers. Ten batteries of British artillery took an important part in the great battle.

U. S. Helps in War on U-Boats.

The British admiralty in its weekly report showed big increases in the arrivals and sailings and decrease in the number of vessels sunk by submarines, and gave ample credit to the American destroyers for this gratifying showing. Following closely on the admiralty as well as numerous members of parliament. All the way from Brest, at Laval, Rennes and Chartres, crowds filled the stations and M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre received deputations of the principal authorities.

Liberty Bonds Selling Fast.

Public officials, the press and financial institutions are everywhere combining to push the Liberty loan bonds, and the demand for those securities was great throughout the country, and increased every day. It was predicted that the bonds would sell at a premium as soon as the war is over, and they are already popular with the small investor.

The treasury department announced that the $200,000,000 of short-term treasury certificates recently issued had been oversubscribed by at least 50 per cent. This despite the opinion of J. P. Morgan that they would not be readily absorbed.

U.S. HONEYCOMBED BY GERMAN SPIES

ADVANCE WORD OF AMERICAN FLEET'S SAILING CABLED TO GERMANY.

ONLY TWO SOURCES FOR LEAK

Information Involving Movements of Ships Must Have Come From Navy Department, or Fleet.

Washington—The German spy system is in operation within the United States army and fleet. Not only are spies obtaining the information they want in this country, but they are able to get it to Berlin in time for German submarines to menace American warships and soldiers on the seas.

This was admitted by the navy department. Secretary Daniels announced that advance word of the sailing of an American destroyer flotilla for Europe had been cabled to Germany, and that German submarines had succeeded in scattering mines at the entrance of the harbor for which the American warships were bound.

Information involving even the destination of the destroyer fleet could have come from only two sources—the navy department or the fleet. That the German espionage system could have extended its tentacles into the very heart of the naval establishment has been a shock to officials.

The fact that the information reached Germany with little or no delay is expected to result in a thorough investigation of the censorship established by the navy department.

AIR SHIPS RAID ENGLAND

Seventy-six Persons Killed and 174 Injured By Bombs.

London—England has been subjected to another German air raid which cost the lives of 76 persons and caused injury to 174 others.

The attack took place Saturday evening over southeastern districts. About 16 airplanes took part, their bomb-dropping apparently centering upon one town, which the official report does not name.

A Berlin dispatch says the attack was on Dover and Folkestone. The lives lost were confined to the civil population. There was heavy damage to houses and shops.

The raiders made good their escape from the mainland, but were intercepted in the channel and off the Belgian coast by Entente airplanes, where three of the raiding squadron were shot down.

Scarcely any part of the town escaped injury. At least 60 bombs were dropped, falling in a shower all over the town. The greatest damage was done in the shopping center.

Harbor Beach—Levi Brown and Frank Brown escaped with minor bruises when an automobile which they were in leaped from a bridge into a creek 20 feet below. Both landed under the machine, which turned in mid-air.

Hastings—A skeleton of a man was unearthed by workmen digging a trench for a water main to the school house. There was no trace of a coffin, although it is believed that this was the graveyard of the early pioneers.

Resume of the Most Important Events in Sweden, Norway and Denmark—Of Interest to the Scandinavians in America.

NORWAY.

A member of the upper ten of Norway wrote the following in Bergen, April 6, to his son in Fargo: "Destiny has stirred this old world of ours out of its natural element, and like a meteor thrust into eternal space, we wonder what its destination will be. America's entrance into the world war caused last night the most enthusiastic ovations and expressions all over Europe. Can you imagine with us the joy that must have been overflowing in the hearts of the allies whose heroic minds never for a minute doubted the ultimate participation of the Stars and Stripes in the cause of a dying race—yes, a dying race, if the German reign of terror could not be checked by superior might. President Wilson rose in our estimation last night. His slow procedure, reminding us of the slow and painful path through Dante's inferno into the chamber of eternal flames, was hurriedly brought to an end and our faces were turned toward the world's true democracy—the hope, yes, the sole hope of Europe. We are indeed moved by the singular poise and patience of your president. There is no doubt in our minds about his rank as the greatest world statesman of today, even overshadowing our cherished memories of Abraham Lincoln, whose problems were not international. Wilson's decision is our united decision, my son, and whatever blow he shall impose on the German Hohenzollerns must be just and agreeable with us. I wish you could scan with me the Norwegian papers these last days. Wilson is first and Wilson is last. You would be surprised to find many of the radicals turned toward democracy. I dared not think of such a situation for fear of being named an outlaw in the eyes of our circles, but now my dormant thoughts are expressed all over the land and generally accepted. Can you remember how Leo Tolstoy's drama, 'The Resurrection,' moved us to tears when we first saw it played at the Royal opera house in Bergen? Little did we dream that so near a future as 1917 would usher in that new democracy which the Russian evangelist prophet foresaw. There is a new drama appearing in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, too! Mark my words, it is coming—Eskingdal's will be the very heart of the antique government coming before the footlights to the amusement of the whole nation. The German military scheme has been undermining our welfare and international standing to such an extent that England has ceased all importations and exportations with us, and even threatened us in various ways. A few trusts have been the beneficiaries of this outrageous assault against a whole nation. The light has come, and we hope to God and man that its radiance may shatter to pieces the autocracy and gradually lead us into the better day of equal rights. God only knows what your country is facing. I fear for an awful year of titanic struggle, but the final victory of democracy is sure."

The Leftist (political) club of Eskingdal has taken definite steps to show that the club no longer intends to support its party. After an animated discussion, the club passed the following resolution without a dissenting vote: "Whereas maximum prices have been put on the products of the farmers, thereby damaging the agricultural interests of the country, and whereas the farmers have, at the same time, been exhorted to increase the food production without being permitted to share with other interests the increase of the prices of commodities, the farmers have been placed in a unique position and must work under conditions unknown in all other trades. The Eskingdal Leftist club holds that by this policy the administration and the scorching have violated the platform of 1915. There seems to be no use in waiting for the leftist party to aid the farmer. If the Norwegian farmer is to make any progress, it must be done by means of his own organizations. Therefore we disband the Eskingdal Leftist club and withdraw from the district organization." Eskingdal is a part of Voss, in the southwestern part of the country.

The queen's aid committee has completed its work for this season. During the winter the committee raised over $31,000 for the poor.

The Algaard factories, near Stavanger, imported 50 barrels of meat for the employees, from Argentina. The meat was in fine condition and was sold for a little over 18 cents a pound, which was considered very cheap under the circumstances.

The commune of Sandnes has bought the Maudal river for $27,000. By spending about one million dollars on dams and a power station, the commune may obtain 25,000 horse power of energy for industrial purposes.

It is said that between 15,000 and 20,000 aliens are living in Christiania at the present time. Practically all of the nations of the world are represented, but the largest number are from Sweden, Denmark and Germany.

Schoolteachers are so scarce in the country around Stavanger that several classes have had no instruction for some time.

The herring fisheries of Norway yielded an income of $2,000,000 crowns during the past winter.

DENMARK.

Measles has broken out among the soldiers in the barracks at Ribe. Several cases were fatal.

The police of Aarhus picked up a man who was without visible means of support. He claimed that he was born in America, but the authorities were not so sure about that, and the man was put to the test, that is, his finger marks were taken. It turned out that he was a Finlander who had been expelled from Denmark on a former occasion.

The oldest person in Denmark this year, Mrs. Else Marie Olsen of Lemvig, died at the age of one hundred and two years, having been born April 6, 1815. Before her death she had a chance to see five generations of descendants, all of them of her own sex. Representatives of all five generations attended the celebration of her one hundredth birthday.

The late J. M. Jacobsen of Lyngby established two eleemosynary foundations in his native city, Ribe, the money set aside for this purpose being $27,000.

FINLAND.

The following words were uttered by M. Mitkon, Russian minister of foreign affairs, during an interview granted a Swedish newspaper man: "The re-establishment of full autonomy for Finland demonstrates the liberal spirit of the new Russia. It deprives the Swedish activists of all reason d'être. Sweden understands because of the treatment of Finland, that the new Russia has no desire for territorial aggression at the expense of Sweden. The provisional government wants to assure the Swedish government that Russia has no thoughts of establishing a hegemony over Sweden. The new Russia has only one desire externally—to crush Germany's aspiration for world domination."

Hannes Kolehmainen, the Finnish distance runner of New York, won the Evening Mail's seventh annual modified marathon race of 12½ miles in 1 hour 7 minutes and 11 4-5 seconds at that place. President Wilson started the men by pressing an electric signal button in Washington. This was Kolehmainen's fourth victory in these events. He ran unattached.

SWEDEN.

Popular unrest far more serious than cable dispatches have indicated is threatening the royal house of Sweden. Members of King Christian's suite, who accompanied the Danish monarch on his recent journey to Stockholm to confer with King Gustaf, report a situation in the northern empire that gravely menaces the existence of the monarchical government. In fact, that there is open speculation on the possibility of King Gustaf being deprived of his throne at no very remote date. The disclosure of the Danish courtiers bear out cable messages which reported a few days ago two warships of the Swedish navy anchored opposite the king's palace, to receive the royal family if an uprising forced it to flee. The administration's attitude of friendship for the German empire is provoking resentment throughout Sweden, and Norway's anger over its rapidly increasing losses at sea, while pressing that nation toward war, is spurring the neighboring people to express openly their growing sentiments. With the downfall of Russian autocracy has passed one of the fears that held the Swedes firm in the ranks of neutral nations. The open avowal of the new Russian regime that it seeks no territorial gains and fights merely for a just and lasting peace, have lulled the apprehensions of Russia's partner in the control of the Baltic. While the Aland Islands were in the hands of an imperialistic government responsible to no one, the guns of this sea fortress loomed always as a constant menace to Stockholm and Swedish trade with the whole world. In the minds of Swedish statesmen, the control of a popular government, the menace of the Aland Island batteries appears to have lost its terror for the masses in Sweden. Gustaf is known as a man of energetic character with predilection for militarism. It is not considered likely that he will follow the example of the late czar of Russia in meekly yielding his throne without a struggle.

Large detachments of German torpedo boats and armed trawlers are patrolling the southeastern coast of Sweden. This indicates that the Germans are endeavoring to prevent British vessels from leaving Russian ports. Another account says the movements of the German war vessels are connected with a German plan for landing troops in Russia simultaneously with advance on land against Petrograd.

Sweden's supply of seed grain is reported to be 200,000 tons short.

The removal of Swedish mine fields in Oeresund will make it possible for allied submarines to penetrate into the Baltic and cut off Germany's import of iron ore and lumber from northern Sweden. If the agreement between Great Britain and Sweden does not prevent such operations.

Count Johann von Bernstorff, former ambassador to Washington, has accepted appointment as German minister to Sweden, but official announcement of his new post has been withheld.

A new kind of building material has been invented by City Engineer J. A. Nystrom of Stockholm. It is a hollow brick, which he calls "aerobrick." The inventor claims that it will come cheap, and that it is just the thing for small houses.

Seven new members have just been added to the aviation corps of the Swedish army.

Only three cities in Sweden have no electric lights—Trosa, Vaxholm and Orgrund.

1—Maj. William Barclay Parsons, who built the New York subway, one of the engineer officers that will go to France. 2—Walter Siddall of Washington who, though only fifteen years old, holds a first-class wireless operator's license. 3—Constructing new barracks for the officers' training camp near Fort Myer, Va. 4—Former Russian exiles about to embark at San Francisco for their native land.

MYSTERY IN SOLDIER'S TRUNK

Securities Worth $100,000 and Military Papers Belonging to General McCallum Await Heir.

Atlanta, Ga.—A wide search is being made for the heirs of the late Gen. D. C. McCallum of the Union army, which laid Atlanta in ashes in 1864. Railroad and industrial securities said to be worth $100,000, together with military papers of the general, were found in a trunk here that had been brought from New York by a Russian junk dealer. The documents are being held by Leonard J. Grossman, an attorney. The papers in the old battered trunk had lain in a New York attic for many years. Some of the military documents bear the signature of Abraham Lincoln. Andrew Johnson and other federal officers of war times and the reconstruction period.

Sawdust in Concrete.

Tests can be driven into concrete if sawdust has been added to the mixture. The proportions of one part of cement, two of sand, and three-quarters of sawdust will produce a concrete in which nails will hold.

The addition of sawdust appears to increase the tendency of concrete to absorb water, but the application of waterproof paint helps to eliminate this difficulty.

Concrete of these proportions is quite apt to crumble and will not stand much usage. It should be used only in floors and other places where it is to be covered with a protecting surface of boards or flooring of some sort.

To Break Up Big Ranches.

In California the farms originally were held by the "Spanish land grants," usually of enormous extent. In a fashion these great holdings—valued by the American government when California came into the Union—have remained as ranches. Today the people are learning that both for taxation and production, small farms are better, and a movement to bring this about is under way.

M. A. C. PLANS TO TRAIN GARDENERS

SPECIAL COURSES PREPARED TO TEACH DETAILS OF ORGANIZATION WORK.

SESSION LASTS SIX WEEKS

Gardening Courses Will Be Only a Few of 100 Offered—Term Runs From June 25 to August 3.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Lansing.

Officers for Michigan's army behind the hoe will be trained this summer at the Michigan Agricultural college, where special courses will be offered during the summer school, from June 25 to August 3.

These courses have been planned to instruct school teachers, and others engaged in similar callings, in details of organization work and garden technique, and will enable them to direct these activities.

The gardening courses will be only a few of 100 offered on the campus during the six weeks' term. Others will be to train the students in canning and drying arts, some will present such subjects as "fruit-lead ership" and still others will cover the usual scientific and academic courses such as mathematics, chemistry, botany and English.

The possibility that many of the large number of Michigan citizens who are planting potatoes this season for the first time may attempt to plant new potatoes has induced the specialists of the Michigan Agricultural college to sound a warning. New potatoes, they say, must be allowed a resting period of at least four weeks before they can be safely planted.

"Citizens can render service at this time," the potato men say, "if they will buy for table use the new southern stock now on the market. This will relieve the demand on the supply of old potatoes, all of which are needed as seed."

Factories Asked About Farm Help.

A definite plan of getting in touch with the former farm-labor now employed in the factories and industrial plants of the state has been decided on by the food preparedness committee.

Blanks are prepared which are being sent to every factory in the state. Upon these the name, age and condition of every man in the factory who came from the farm is requested; also whether or not he will return for a short time and whether or not the employer will let him go.

When these are received properly filled out, it is expected that the committee will be in a position to send competent help to almost any farmer who wants it.

The labor problem now looms larger than ever. From all parts of the state come requests for labor not for the exact present, but for the future.

New Guard Units Being Formed.

The war department has called upon the governor of Michigan for the organization of a series of new units to complete Michigan's quota of the National Guard.

Under the orders of the president the National Guard of the United States is to be mobilized, beginning July 15.

In addition to such National Guard units already organized, Michigan is called upon to produce new units as follows: one regiment of infantry; one regiment of field artillery; one battalion of engineers; one battalion, signal corps; one telegraph battalion, signal corps; headquarters train; military train, engineer train; three field hospitals; two ambulance companies.

The state is also asked for one regiment of cavalry, but is only called upon to furnish one squadron of it at the present time.

If each state supplies its quota the National Guard will muster 440,000 men and these will be in addition to the army to be obtained through the selective draft.

All old Michigan is asked to furnish 10,400 of the 440,000 men. The state already has half that number.

U. P. Potato Acreage Increased.

George W. McCormick, member of the food preparedness committee from the upper peninsula, reported that his section of the state would come to the front with an increase of 5,000,000 bushels of potatoes, if the crop was anywhere near normal. Mr. McCormick says one man in Dickinson county has planted 5,000 extra bushels of potatoes.

Pension Claims Being Paid.

Auditor General Fuller and his force are rapidly paying off the claims for back pay for the Spanish-American war, as provided for by the legislature. Partial payments were made years ago but the finances ran out and it was not until this year that a legislature could be found which would vote enough money to finish the job.

Three months of special training will be given the medical corps of the National Guard.

Major Phillips' home guard organization not to drill more than once each week. He says some of the companies are drilling three and four times a week and he fears their enthusiasm may wane unless they limit their activities.

Michigan's war preparedness board, with the $5,000,000 war loan at its disposal, announced that it would guarantee the pay of officers detailed to recruit the Michigan National Guard up to full war strength.

GRAYLING, THURSDAY, MAY 31

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty"

"MICHIGAN has demonstrated its readiness to help the nation prepare," said the dairy and food commissioners. "Recruiting is going along pretty well, but we must remember that we need more than fighting men. With our forces in the field and at sea, we have got to furnish them food. There are hundreds of ways by which the men now ineligible for army and navy service may contribute to preparedness. Everyone knows that the average family throws away enough food every day to keep one or two persons well nourished. It is the first duty of the housewife to make every ounce of the household supplies effective. There are countless little tricks of household economy which will go a long way to conserving Michigan's supply of food-stuffs."

If you wish to know how busy the farmers of Beaver Creek are, just pay them a visit on Sunday, and those that are not working in the field, if you come up careful, you will probably find busy with a spade or an axe. A. Killa was at Roscommon Thursday.

VOTE ON COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM NEXT MONDAY.

If You Are in Favor of Good Roads, Vote for It Next Monday.

An opportunity of putting Crawford county upon the County Road system will be presented the voters of this county next Monday, June 4.

It seems to be the general opinion of almost everyone that better roads are needed in Crawford county. At the town meeting day, during the April election in Grayling township there was a lively discussion on the matter of having more road improvement work. The county road system was suggested and steps to bring this about were immediately acted upon, with the result that it is now up to the people.

There is no disputing the advantages of such a system for counties. It assures the work being done on a larger scale and under more co-operative and creative arrangements.

Crawford county apparently has been slow in adopting this system, for it appears that every county north of Bay county are already operating under the county road system. The people of these counties are enthusiastic over the results obtained this way. Now is our opportunity to get our county operating under this system, but it is up to the voters to get out and vote YES before it becomes an established act.

Every voter in Crawford county is urged to do their duty next Monday and go to the polls and vote. We have heard of no opposition to the question and can hardly imagine that there may be any negative votes.

Carl Kellogg, driving an auto for T. E. Douglas and Robert Marshall, had a head-on collision about two miles from Grayling on the Lovells road yesterday. Both cars were badly damaged, however nobody was materially injured. The cars were going around a bend in the road where fast driving is always unavoidable. This is the second time Kellogg has been in a collision; a few years ago a car he was driving smashed into one belonging to Reuben S. Babbitt.

Representative A. E. Petermann of Calumet, whose name is attached to the law providing for the five-million dollar Michigan war loan, was a caller at the State Capitol at Lansing executive office last week. He says the Calumet and Hecla, as well as nearly every mining company in the north country, is plowing up its vacant property and dividing the land among the heads of families, in plots of 50x100 feet, for potato raising. "Why Houghton county will raise potatoes enough this year to feed all Michigan," said the Calumet attorney. I noticed down here the Food Preparedness committee has issued a corn bulletin, 'Enlist Under Kernel Korn.' Up our way the slogan is, 'Enlist Under Major Spuds,' and you had better believe me when I say the Upper Peninsula to the last man is seriously and actively in this campaign for increased food production, the peninsula has never known such an extensive movement as is now in progress north of the Straits."

In our city there are many foreigners who are unable to read the English language and may possibly be unaware of the importance of registering next Tuesday, June 5. Whenever such cases appear it is requested that due efforts be made by anyone who may happen to have knowledge of them that the necessity of registration be made plain. Registration of every male person between the ages of 21 and 31 years, regardless of whether they be citizens of this country or not, is required. Neglect to register would mean severe punishment, and it is further reported that those who fail to register will be at once arrested and, after serving imprisonment that they be placed among the first troops to be transported to the battle fronts of Europe. No male person of conscription age can afford to be in the least careless about registering. It is our duty to assist in seeing that every person be duly informed in regard to this duty. Next Tuesday is the day of registration, between the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 9:00 p. m. On the second page of the Avalanche we publish a fac-simile of the regular registration blank and urge all that they carefully read it so as to be fully informed when they appear for registration. Complete instructions on just how to answer the questions also appear on the second page of this paper, column one. Read every word of them.

To buy a Liberty loan bond is not only doing a patriotic duty but is a good investment as well.

Charles Green, wife and children, and Mrs. William Green and little son were in Lewiston Decoration Day.

James E. Kellogg of Lovells township, gave a party Tuesday night, at his home on the North Branch. About fifty people were present. There was a large delegation from Grayling present. Mr. Kellogg is supervisor of Lovells township and the supervisors of the other townships, and several present and past county officials were in attendance at the party. All report a most delightful time and cannot speak too highly of the fine supper served by Mrs. Kellogg.

Because of the threatening rain there was but a small attendance at the May festival program given at the Base ball park, Decoration day. This was exceedingly unfortunate for the school children from all grades below the seventh were there to entertain the people, and gave a most interesting exhibition of drills, marches, games, songs and other features. After a grand march the program opened with the grades unmasked singing the "Star-Spangled-Banner." In this the children carried colored flags, some red, some blue and the others white. The waving banners made a very pretty effect. Winding a May pole was among the special features. The festival was under direction of L. C. Bundgaard, physical culture director of the schools, assisted by the grade teachers. School affairs are deserving of more interest than was shown in this event.

DECORATION DAY.

Decoration day in Grayling was observed in much the same manner as in past years. The attendance in the afternoon in the march to the cemetery and the services at the graves were somewhat larger than in other years, however the ranks of the Civil war veterans were greatly reduced. Wm. S. Chalker, commander of the local G. A. R. post, carrying a saber marched in the parade, beside some of the Sons of Veterans. Wellington Batterson, Adolbert Taylor, Collin Wight and A. C. Wilcox rode in an auto. Dr. Oscar Palmer was suffering an attack of illness and confined to his home that day and was thus unable to be present at the ceremonies.

The procession was lead by the Grayling band. Those in line, besides the veterans, ladies of the W. R. C., G. A. R., National League, and hundreds of school children. After the return from the cemeteries the veterans and their families were served supper in the G. A. R. hall by the ladies of the auxiliary societies. The little bronze button of the G. A. R. is less frequently noted on our streets. The men who wear it are old and feeble, but not the less proud of their decoration—the emblem of their Legion of Honor. The men who wear it were not cowards nor slackers.

As the soldiers of the Civil war fought that others might be free, so the men of America again go forth in the name of Liberty, to bruise the iron heel of militarism. The more reason, then, to celebrate the earlier triumphs that Memorial day commemorates.

PATRIOTISM.

By SIR WALTER SCOTT.
Breathes there the man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
"This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath he'er within him bled,
As home his footsteps he hath turned From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no minstrel raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Round his own walls his power should swell, Despise those titles, power, and self;
The wretch, concentred all in self,
Living shall forfeit fair renown,
And, doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprang,
Unwept, unhonored, and unsung.

Major Dukkey, of the War department, arrived in the city Sunday afternoon and the following morning made an official inspection of the Hanson State Military reservation. His report is for submission to the military committee and used in determining their selection of a federal military camp. Should the Grayling site be selected it would mean that the camp would be equipped to accommodate from 20,000 to 50,000 soldiers the year around. Several hundred thousand dollars would have to be spent in preparing the camp, which would have to be built up with permanent barracks. The pay roll to such an aggregation would amount to about a million dollars each month, says Major Dukkey. The chances for the selection of Grayling for such a camp, according to the opinion of some of our Michigan military officials, are very remote, due, they say, to the long cold winters. However if any site in Michigan is selected it is believed that Grayling will be the place. Sites below the Mason and Dixon's line, it is believed will have the preference over any in the northern states.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

"MICHIGAN has demonstrated its readiness to help the nation prepare," said the dairy and food commissioner. "Recruiting is going along pretty well, but we must remember that we need more than fighting men. With our forces in the field and at sea, we have got to furnish them food. There are hundreds of ways by which the men now ineligibly for army and navy service may contribute to preparedness. There is the need to eliminate waste. Everyone knows that the average family throws away enough food every day to keep one or two persons well nourished. It is the first duty of the housewife to make every ounce of the household supplies effective. There are countless little tricks of household economy which will go a long way to conserving Michigan's supply of food-stuffs."

VOTE ON COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM NEXT MONDAY.

If You Are in Favor of Good Roads, Vote for It Next Monday.

An opportunity of putting Crawford county upon the County Road system will be presented the voters of this county next Monday, June 4.

It seems to be the general opinion of almost everyone that better roads are needed in Crawford county. At the town meeting day, during the April election in Grayling township there was a lively discussion on the matter of having more road improvement work. The county road system was suggested and steps to bring this about were immediately acted upon, with the result that it is now up to the people.

There is no disputing the advantages of such a system for counties. It assures the work being done on a larger scale and under more co-operative and creative arrangements.

Crawford county apparently has been slow in adopting this system. For it appears that every county north of Bay county are already operating under the county road system. The people of these counties are enthusiastic over the results obtained this way. Now is our opportunity to get our county operating under this system, but it is up to the voters to get out and vote YES before it becomes an established act.

Every voter in Crawford county is urged to do their duty next Monday and go to the polls and vote. We have heard of no opposition to the question and can hardly imagine that there may be any negative votes.

Obituary.

At the home of his son, R. D. Connine, Thursday, May 24th, occurred the death of Richard Nelson Connine, aged 85 years and 19 days.

Mr. Connine was born in Otsego county, N. Y., May 5, 1829, and was there married to Mary Holmes in 1848. They settled in Cass county, Michigan soon thereafter, and to them three sons were born, Richard Dayton, Main J. and Nelson Byron, of whom only the first survives. In 1877 the family moved to Grand Traverse county, where Mrs. Connine died in July 1913. Mr. Connine then came to Grayling to make his home with his son.

Interment was at Traverse City, where two grandsons, W. B. and M. N. Connine, sons of the late Main J. reside.

Miss Nellie Shanahan left this morning to join her mother in Detroit, where they will spend the remainder of the week.

Carl Kellogg, driving an auto for T. E. Douglas, and Robert Marshall, had a head-on collision about two miles from Grayling on the Lovells road yesterday. Both cars were badly damaged, however nobody was materially injured. The cars were going around a bend in the road where fast driving is always inadvisable. This is the second time Kellogg has been in a collision; a few years ago a car he was driving smashed into one belonging to Reuben S. Babbitt.

Representative A. E. Petermann of Calumet, whose name is attached to the law providing for the five million dollar Michigan war loan, was a caller at the State Capitol at Lansing executive office last week. He says the Calumet and Hecla, as well as nearly every mining company in the north country, is plowing up its vacant property and dividing the land among the heads of families, in plots of 50x100 feet, for potato raising. "Why Houghton county will raise potatoes enough this year to feed all Michigan," said the Calumet attorney. I noticed down here the Food Preparedness committee has issued a corn bulletin, "Enlist Under Kernel Korn." Up our way the slogan is, "Enlist Under Major Spuds," and you had better believe me when I say the Upper Peninsula to the last man is seriously and actively in this campaign for increased food production, the peninsula has never known such an extensive movement as is now in progress north of the Straits.

In our city there are many foreigners who are unable to read the English language and may possibly be unaware of the importance of registering next Tuesday, June 5. Whenever such cases appear it is requested that due efforts be made by anyone who ever may happen to have knowledge of them that the necessity of registration be made plain. Registration of every male person between the ages of 21 and 31 years, regardless of whether they be citizens of this country or not, is required. Neglect to register would mean severe punishment, and it is further reported that those who fail to register will be at once arrested and, after serving imprisonment that they be placed among the first troops to be transported to the battle fronts of Europe. No male person of conscription age can afford to be in the least careless about registering. It is our duty to assist in seeing that every person be duly informed in regard to this duty. Next Tuesday is the day of registration, between the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 9:00 p. m. On the second page of the Avalanche we publish a fac-simile of the regular registration blank and urge all that they carefully read it so as to be fully informed when they appear for registration. Complete instructions on just how to answer the questions also appear on the second page of this paper, column one. Read every word of them.

Going On Cash Basis.

On and after June 15, 1917, this market will go onto a strictly cash basis. 5-31-17 F. H. Milks.

To buy a Liberty loan bond, is not only doing a patriotic duty but is a good investment as well.

Charles Green, wife and children, and Mrs. William Green and little son were in Lewiston Decoration Day.

James E. Kellogg of Lovells township, gave a party Tuesday night, at his home on the North Branch. About fifty people were present. There was a large delegation from Grayling present. Mr. Kellogg is supervisor of Lovells township and the supervisors of the other townships, and several present and past county officials were in attendance at the party. All report a most delightful time and cannot speak too highly of the fine supper served by Mrs. Kellogg.

Because of the threatening rain there was but a small attendance at the May festival program given at the Base ball park, Decoration day. This was exceedingly unfortunate for the school children from all grades below the seventh were there to entertain the people, and gave a most interesting exhibition of drills, marches, games, songs and other features. After a grand march the program opened with the grades enmassed singing the "Star Spangled Banner." In this the children carried colored flags, some red, some blue and the others white. The waving banners made a very pretty effect. Winding a May pole was among the special features. The festival was under direction of L. C. Bundgaard, physical culture director of the schools, assisted by the grade teachers. School affairs are deserving of more interest than was shown in this event.

DECORATION DAY.

Decoration day in Grayling was observed in much the same manner as in past years. The attendance in the afternoon in the march to the cemetery and the services at the graves was somewhat larger than in other years, however the ranks of the Civil war veterans were greatly reduced. Wm. S. Chalker, commander of the local G. A. R. post, carrying a saber marched in the parade, beside some of the Sons of Veterans. Wellington Patterson, Adelbert Taylor, Collin Wright and A. C. Wilcox rode in an auto. Dr. Oscar Palmer was suffering an attack of illness and confined to his home that day and was thus unable to be present at the ceremonies.

The procession was led by the Grayling band. Those in line, besides the veterans, ladies of the W. R. C., G. A. R., National league, and hundreds of school children. After the return from the cemeteries the veterans and their families were served supper in the G. A. R. hall by the ladies of the auxiliary societies. The little bronze button of the G. A. R. is less frequently noted on our streets. The men who wear it are old and feeble, but not the less proud of their decoration—the emblem of their Legion of Honor. The men who wear it were not cowards nor slackers.

As the soldiers of the Civil war fought that others might be free, so the men of America again go forth in the name of Liberty, to bruise the iron heel of militarism. The more reason, then, to celebrate the earlier triumphs that Memorial day commemorates.

PATRIOTISM.

By SIR WALTER SCOTT.
Breathes there the man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land;
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no minstrel raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,
Despite those titles, power, and pelf,
The wretch, concentred all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown,
And doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust from whence he sprung, Unwept, unhonored, and unsung.

She will be well remembered and her friends will extend best wishes and congratulations.

Major Dickey, of the War department, arrived in the city Sunday afternoon and the following morning made an official inspection of the Hanson State Military reservation. His report is for submission to the military committee and used in determining their selection of a federal military camp. Should the Grayling site be selected it would mean that the camp would be equipped to accommodate from 20,000 to 50,000 soldiers the year around. Several hundred thousand dollars would have to be spent in preparing the camp, which would have to be built up with permanent barracks. The pay roll to such an aggregation would amount to about a million dollars each month, says Major Dickey. The chances for such a camp, according to the opinion of some of our Michigan military officials, are very remote, due, they say, to the long cold winters. However if any site in Michigan is selected it is believed that Grayling will be the place. Sites below the Mason and Dixon's line, it is believed will have the preference over any in the northern states.

The KITCHEN CABINET

When you get into a tight place and everything goes against you, until it seems you cannot hold on a minute longer, never give up then, for that is just the place and time when the tide will turn.—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

This dish may be served hot with tomato sauce or cold, thinly sliced.

Veal Omelet.—Put three cupsful of cold cooked veal through the food chopper, with one slice of salt pork, add three crackers rolled fine, one beaten egg, two tablespoonsful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper and nutmeg. Mold in an oblong loaf, put in a pan with a little cold water, rub over the loaf with softened butter and sprinkle with crumbs. Bake while the crumbs are brown.

Planked White Fish.—Clean and split a white fish and put it skin side down on a well buttered plank one and a half inches thick. Sprinkle with salt and paprika, lemon juice and melted butter. Cook the fish in a hot oven until tender. Garnish with hot mashed potato forced into a pastry bag. Brown the potatoes slightly before serving.

Capers Stuffing for Fish.—Take three slices of bread and a slice of salt pork finely chopped. Add a tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of capers, one-half teaspoonful of sweet marjoram and stuff the fish.

Cucumber Cream Sauce for Fish.—Whip one cupful of cream until stiff, add a tablespoonful of vinegar, salt and paprika to taste and continue beating. When stiff enough to hold its shape fold in one pared and chopped cucumber.

Hollandaise Sauce for Fish.—Wash a half cupful of butter in cold water, using a wooden spoon to press out the water. Put one-third of the butter in a double boiler with the yolks of two eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Place the saucepan over hot water and beat constantly until the butter is melted; then another third of the butter, beating as before; as it thickens add the last third with the salt and seasonings needed.

Onion Cream Sauce for Meat.—Make a rich white sauce and add a cupful of boiled onions chopped fine, season with salt and pepper and serve with meat or poultry.

Pressed Veal.—Cook together three pounds of veal, one onion sliced, two stalks of diced celery, one tablespoonful of sugar, one and a half tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup, two teaspoonfuls of salt. Half a cupful of minced mushrooms are added to the meat after it is cooked and chopped. Moisten with enough of the meat stock to mold, then pack into a bowl and cover with a plate.

One who claims that he knows about

Tells me the world is a vale of sin; But I and the bees and the birds, we doubt it, And think it a world worth living in. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox

A DAY WITH THE OMELET.

We have begun to take courage again at the price of eggs and to see times when a small omelet will not cause ruin to the family finances.

A small omelet is easier to prepare and altogether more satisfactory than a large one made with eight to ten eggs unless they are cooked as small omelets for two large ones are apt to be tough and either under or overdone. Four eggs makes a good-sized omelet to be successful.

Italian Cheese Omelet.—Separate whites and yolks of three eggs, add three tablespoonfuls of water, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper to the yolks, beating well. Whip the whites until light and stiff but not dry, stir in the yolks lightly and put into a hot buttered omelet pan. When ready to fold sprinkle thickly with a well flavored cheese, fold in half and place in a hot oven after sprinkling with cheese. Remove when the cheese is melted and sprinkle with finely minced parsley.

Celery Omelet.—Beat the yolks of two eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of cream, two of chopped celery, and salt and pepper to season. Fold in the well beaten whites of the eggs, cook in a hot buttered pan until lightly browned underneath, then place in the oven to finish on top. Fold and turn out on a hot platter. A rich white sauce may be served with this, making a most satisfactory luncheon dish.

Bread Omelet.—To a cupful of bread crumbs add one cupful of cream or rich milk, one tablespoonful of butter, a little nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. When the crumbs have absorbed the cream add three well beaten eggs and fry in a well buttered pan.

of flour, a little salt and a fourth of a teaspoonful of vanilla, and the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Cook as any omelet, cover with jelly and sprinkle with powdered sugar before folding.

MORE GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

Chili Stew.—Cut in small pieces, or grind, one and a half pounds of round steak. Add to it one and a half tablespoonfuls each of olive oil and butter, add six tablespoonfuls of chopped onion and one clove of garlic, fry until a light brown color. Add one and a half tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, and three tablespoonfuls of chili powder, stirring well. Pour in enough hot water to cover the bottom of the frying pan and cook with the meat 15 minutes, then add three cupsful of tomato. Blend one and a half tablespoonfuls of flour with some of the tomato juice, add to the stew and place in a casserole to cook well covered for an hour. Serve with rice or noodles.

Spring Salad.—Mix together three cupsful of finely shredded cabbage, half a cupful of diced apple, one-fourth of a cupful of diced celery, one cupful of grated pineapple, all moistened with boiled dressing and served on lettuce.

Fish Souffle.—Make a white sauce of two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour; when well blended add a cupful of milk and add to this a teaspoonful of grated onion, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, and a large can of fish flakes which should be picked apart with a fork. Beat three eggs whites until light, add to this mixture and then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a buttered dish until firm in the center, then serve at once with tomato sauce.

Fried Chicken de Luxe.—Sift a fourth of a teaspoonful of baking powder into the flour in which the chicken is rolled before frying. Beat one egg, add crumbs and baking powder, beat well, then dip each piece of chicken in this mixture.

Good Things Worth Trying.—There is so little variety used in the preparation of tongue that this recipe may appeal to the one who is fond of change.

Tongue With Blackberry Jelly.—Cook a fresh tongue until very tender in water containing a teaspoonful of mixed pickle-spice, one or two bay leaves in addition to those in the package, and a few dry celery tips. When very tender, remove the skin, trim off the root end and slice the meat with a few cloves. Place in a buttered baking dish, dust with salt and pour over a glass of blackberry jelly or jam, a cupful of raisins that have been softened in the juice of a lemon and cooked until tender in a cupful of water. Bake often and bake 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Kidney Beans With Oxtails.—Soak two and a half cupsful of kidney beans overnight. In the morning rinse thoroughly and put into a large kettle or saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, two large onions chopped, a third of a teaspoonful of pepper, and a quart can of tomatoes. Boil 30 minutes and then add two oxtails well cleaned and cut up. Simmer for four hours. This dish will serve a large family.

A half cupful of chopped, freshly roasted peanuts added to creamed potatoes, just as they are ready to serve, makes a new dish of creamed potatoes. A few peanuts added to a potato salad improves that also.

Cream Orange Sherbet.—Boil together three cupsful of water, two cupsful of sugar and a little yellow from the rind of an orange for five minutes. Remove the rind and chill, then add a half cupful each of lemon and orange juice, freeze slightly, turn in a cupful of cream or rich milk and finish freezing.

Orange Biscuit.—Make small dairy biscuits from rich baking powder biscuit dough. Grate the rind from an orange and press out the juice. Dip many lumps of sugar in the orange juice as there are biscuits and plunge each lump into the center of each biscuit, sprinkle with the grated rind and bake in a hot oven. Serve hot or cold.

Only a Would-Be.—Olan—There goes that naughty Mrs. De Swell. She claims to be a prominent woman.

Ruth—Prominent? Nonsense! Why, she cannot boast of even one camera being smashed when she appears in public.

Good Trick.—My wife doesn't kiss her pet dog any more.

Why not?—I taught the dog to eat onions.

Worse and More of It.—Will Tellum was furious. He dashed into the editorial sanctum of the "Chin Wagger" over the prostrate form of the office boy, and confronted the editor himself. "Look here!" he bellowed. "This paper said I was a liar!"

"Oh, no, it didn't!" replied the editor calmly. "It did, I say." "No," "Well, some paper said it!" spluttered Tellum. "Possibly it was our own temporary down the street," said the editor sweetly, fingering a paper weight. "We never print stale news!"

Put the Dollar to Work.—When a manufacturer or other producer of real wealth does a profitable business and turns his profits back into the business, he gives employment to men and creates more real wealth as he progresses year by year. He does more real good for his fellow men than he would if he gave all his profits in charity, because it is better to make people self-supporting and independent than it is to give them something for nothing no matter how worthy the motives may be.

ALFALFA CUTS FEED COSTS.—Pasturing Hogs in This Crop Makes It Possible to Reduce Grain Ration.

East Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers, who in these days of sky-high feed prices feel that fattening hogs on real grain is something like "robbing Peter to pay Paul," may be able to find a way out of their difficulties this season by pasturing their porkers on alfalfa, according to animal husbandry men of the Michigan Agricultural college. Alfalfa pasture, experiments have indicated, can be successfully substituted for much of the high-priced grain ration.

"Breeding animals pastured on alfalfa," the experimenters have found, "may be carried through the summer in good condition with very little grain, though growing shoots should get at least one-half full feed of grain, or from two to three pounds per 100 pounds live weight, as their digestive systems cannot handle a large amount of roughage."

"In trying out the pasturing plan in 1915 and 1916, ten acres of alfalfa of uniform stand were divided into two five-acre plots. Four portable pens were placed in a small feed lot between the two pastures to give the animals protection from the sun and inclement weather, while a creep was placed in one corner where the pigs could be fed by themselves. A hog oler, and a box containing salt and a conditioner were also provided, water being supplied daily in troughs and an automatic waterer. The idea of the experiment was to pasture the alfalfa lightly and mow the remainder for hay."

"Eight sows with 60 spring pigs were turned into the No. 1 five-acre plot on May 12. No. 2 was mown on June 22, and later, when the crop in this second field was from 8 to 10 inches high the pigs were turned in here. Plot No. 1 was then mown. This plan was carried out through the summer, the pigs being transferred alternately from one field to the other and the remaining hay cut in the field they had left. Three cuttings of good hay were obtained from one field, and two cuttings from the other, the yield cut averaging about three tons to the acre."

POTATOES MENAGED BY SCAB AND SCURF

REMEDIES ARE VERY SIMPLE

Use of Formaldehyde and Corrosive Sublimates Will Mean Big Saving to Michigan Farmers.

East Lansing, Mich.—The old foes of the Michigan farmer, potato scab and black scurf—the latter known as "rhizoctonia" in exclusive scientific circles, will take the field in force this coming summer to work havoc with the tuber crop unless something is done to checkmate them, say potato specialists of the Michigan Agricultural college. The "something" which the potato experts are recommending is formaldehyde for the scab, or corrosive sublimate—where both the scab and black scurf are present. In those sections of the state where farmers failed to treat their seed last summer the losses from black scurf alone ranged from 10 to 15 per cent of the crop in most cases, and as high as 25 per cent in others. In no field among those inspected was the loss greater than 2 per cent where the precaution had been taken to treat the seed.

"If clean, smooth potatoes are disinfected before planting," say the men who have studied the tubers through all their troubles and trials, "the scab can be reduced to a minimum. Farmers in general must depend upon seed treatment to protect their crop. Long

ALFALFA CUTS FEED COSTS

Pasturing Hogs in This Crop Makes It Possible to Reduce Grain Ration.

East Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers, who in these days of sky-high feed prices feel that fattening hogs on real grain is something like "robbing Peter to pay Paul," may be able to find a way out of their difficulties this season by pasturing their porkers on alfalfa, according to animal husbandry men of the Michigan Agricultural college. Alfalfa pasture, experiments have indicated, can be successfully substituted for much of the high-priced grain ration.

"In trying out the pasturing plan in 1915 and 1916, ten acres of alfalfa of uniform stand were divided into two five-acre plots. Four portable pens were placed in a small feed lot between the two pastures to give the animals protection from the sun and inclement weather, while a creep was placed in one corner where the pigs could be fed by themselves. A hog

oler, and a box containing salt and a conditioner were also provided, water being supplied daily in troughs and an automatic waterer. The idea of the experiment was to pasture the alfalfa lightly and mow the remainder for hay."

"Eight sows with 60 spring pigs were turned into the No. 1 five-acre plot on May 12. No. 2 was mown on June 22, and later, when the crop in this second field was from 8 to 10 inches high the pigs were turned in here. Plot No. 1 was then mown. This plan was carried out through the summer, the pigs being transferred alternately from one field to the other and the remaining hay cut in the field they had left. Three cuttings of good hay were obtained from one field, and two cuttings from the other, the yield cut averaging about three tons to the acre."

"In addition to the alfalfa pasture, a grain ration of three parts corn and two parts middlings was fed to the sows at the rate of 2 1/2 to 3 pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, making about a 3-3 full ration. A small amount of middlings was given the pigs in the creep, though the amount was increased as they grew. After the pigs were weaned, they were fed a mixture of two parts middlings and one part corn at the rate of three pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, the middlings being decreased gradually, however, and the corn increased in proportion, until along towards fall they were getting equal parts of corn and middlings. If they had been fed a full grain ration from four and a half to five pounds of grain would have been required daily."

"The big thing which the experiment demonstrated was that it is practical and economical to pasture hogs in an alfalfa field and at the same time mow the field for hay as if the hogs had not been placed in it. The pigs made good gains, the quality of the hay was not injured, and the stand of alfalfa was just as good the year following as were the alfalfa fields that had not been pastured."

FREE RANGE FOR THE SHEEP.—Upper Peninsula Opens Cut-Over Lands to Pasture as War Measure.

East Lansing, Mich.—One of the most decisive moves in the direction of promoting food production in Michigan has been made by upper peninsula men, who have thrown open 25,000 acres of cut-over lands to any sheep or live-stock men who wish to fatten stock on them. The animal husbandry department of the Michigan Agricultural college, accordingly, has offered to act as intermediaries between southern Michigan sheep and stockmen who would like to send their flocks north and the men in the Lake Superior country who have made the offer of free pastures.

In its essence the plan is this: Men with flocks in southern Michigan have been invited to send their sheep north for the season to graze on the ideal pasture lands of the upper peninsula. By so doing the acreage which these animals require for grazing in this section of the state will be made available for crops. The upper peninsula land, on the other hand, because most of it has not been rid of stumps is unsuitable for crops in its present condition, but affords excellent pasture—a fact which has been repeatedly demonstrated by experiments conducted by the college and by northern Michigan individuals. Men shipping their sheep or steers to the free pastures, however, will be required to pay their own transportation charges, and to make arrangements for having the sheep looked after while they are on the range.

But even so, the plan is such a practicable one, that one of southern Michigan's biggest sheep men has already begun the northward movement by making preparations to ship 2,000 head of sheep to the free pastures lands, while several thousand head have also come in from the West.

Sheepmen and live-stock raisers have been advised that they can be placed in touch with the live-stock end of the war plans by communicating with W. F. Raven, live-stock extension man for the college.

Chicago—More than 150 persons were killed, 1,000 or more injured and millions of dollars worth of property destroyed by tornadoes which swept through Kansas Friday, Illinois and Indiana Saturday and parts of Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Alabama and Southern Illinois Sunday.

Reports indicate a large amount of farm implements, needed to produce the bumper crop desired this year, was ruined; although the spasmodic wind struck only here and there in its trifling play through the rural regions. Crop damage is said to be not heavy in general.

Mattoon, Illinois, Hardest Hit.

The heaviest toll of life was taken at Mattoon, Ill., a city of 10,000 population in the broad corn country of central Illinois, where 54 are known to be dead and 500 injured, with a property loss of $2,000,000.

Charleston, Ill., 10 miles east of Mattoon also was wrecked partly Saturday evening, with a loss of 38 lives and 150 injured. The property loss there is $1,000,000.

The next most serious loss was at Andale, Kan., where 28 were killed and a score injured Friday. Dublin, Ky., suffered three dead and 17 injured Sunday.

South Dyersburg, Tenn., was reported to have lost six killed and 32 injured in a tornado that swept Dyer county Sunday. Near Blytheville, Ark., nine persons were reported killed and a dozen hurt.

Reports from Indiana show at least seven persons were killed at Hebron, Kouts and other places, and the death list may reach 20. More than 200 were injured in the Indiana territory swept by the storm.

Smaller towns in Illinois lost a dozen dead Saturday, with two scores injured, while in the southern point of Illinois wind storms killed a half dozen and injured a score.

RIOTS AT PEACE MEETING

Fight Started When Speaker Criticizes President Wilson.

Chicago—A riot in a peace meeting in Grant park Sunday resulted in the arrest of eight speakers who had denounced President Wilson.

The crowd was composed of persons unable to gain admittance to a meeting in the Auditorium theater, where 8,000 persons demanded that the government set forth in simple language the terms upon which it will make peace with Germany.

The Grant park peace meeting was peaceful until George Roop, a speaker, criticized President Wilson. Then soldiers and civilians joined in general fight with a large number of pacifists.

Scores of prominent pacifists and Socialists attended the meeting in the Auditorium, among them being Miss Jane Addams and Dean Robert M. Lovett, of the University of Chicago.

There was no criticism of the administration at the Auditorium for embarking on the war, but the crowd cheered speakers who said that if this war is a people's war, the people must know upon what terms it will be stopped.

"We are told that we are fighting for democracy," said Seymour Steadman, Socialist, "but do we mean democracy for India, for Ireland and for other nations oppressed by the British empire? Let us make that one of the terms of peace."

Port Huron—James Waterworth, 74 years old, for 40 years a Grand Trunk engineer, running between this city and Detroit, died from injuries he received when struck by an automobile several weeks ago.

This Car Is Worthy of Your Confidence

You can buy a Saxon car secure in the knowledge that you are getting full value in tried and proven motor-car mechanism.

Saxon cars are built to win the confidence of their owner—and they do. But first they must win the confidence of their builders—
and this they could not if they embodied any feature or any part of unproved worth.

So no Saxon principle of construction has ever been changed until a better principle has fully proved its greater value. And so no Saxon car has ever embodied features of doubtful worth.

Saxon cars have simply been in a state of
transition, passing thru phase after phase of gradual improvement without a break in production. They are refined from time to time, not radically changed.

They are in the fullest sense of the phrase, products of evolution. They are developed rather than built.

Isn't that the kind of a car you want—one that you can feel confident is right before you put down your good money for it? If it is, then you want a Saxon.

There is still some good territory open for Saxon Dealers. For information you should

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

"I am showing them how we do this in the artillery, sir."

And this is a part of the story where all the legends agree; that the commodore said:

"I see you do, and I thank you, sir;
and I shall never forget this day, sir,
and you never shall, sir."

And after the whole thing was over,
and he had the Englishman's sword,
in the midst of the state and ceremony
of the quarterdeck, he said:

"Where is Mr. Nolan? Ask Mr. Nolan to come here."

And when Nolan came, the captain
said:

"Mr. Nolan, you are very grateful to you today; you are a good man today;
you will be named in the dispatches."

And then the old man took of his own sword of ceremony, and gave it to Nolan, and made him put it on. The man told me this who saw it. Nolan cried like a baby, and well he might.

He had not worn a sword since that infernal day at Fort Adams. But always afterward, on occasions of ceremony, he wore that quaint old French sword of the commodore's.

The captain did mention him in the dispatches. It was always said he asked that he might be pardoned. He wrote a special letter to the secretary of war. But nothing ever came of it.

As I said, that was about the time when they began to ignore the whole transaction at Washington, and when Nolan's imprisonment began to carry itself on because there was nobody to stop it without any new orders from home.

I have heard it said that he was with Porter when he took possession of the Nukuhiva Islands. Not this Porter,
you know, but old Porter, his father,
Essex Porter, that is, the old Essex
Porter, not this Essex. As an artillery officer, who had seen service in the West, Nolan knew more about fortifications, embrasures, ravelines, stockades, and all that, than any of them did; and he worked with a right good will in fixing that battery all right. I have always thought it was a pity Porter did not leave him in command there with Gamble. That would have settled all the question about his punishment. We should have kept the islands, and at this moment we should have one station in the Pacific ocean. Our French friends, too, when they wanted this little watering place, would have found it was pre-occupied. But Madison and the Virginians, of course, flung all that away.

All that was near fifty years ago.
If Nolan was thirty then, he must have been near eighty when he died.
He looked sixty when he was forty.
But he never seemed to me to change a hair afterward. As I imagine his life, from what I have seen and heard
of it, he must have been in every sea, and yet almost never on land. He must have known in a formal way,
more officers in our service than any man living knows. He told me once, with a grave smile, that no man in the world lived so methodical a life as he.

"You know the boys say I am the iron mask, and you know how busy he was." He said it did not do for anyone to try to read all the time, more than to do anything else all the time;
but that he read just five hours a day.

"Then," he said, "I keep up my notebooks, writing in them at such and such hours from what I have been reading; and I include in them my scraps of books. These were very curious indeed. He had six or eight, of different subjects. There was one of history, one of natural science, one which he called 'Odds and Ends.' But they were not merely books of extracts from newspapers. They had bits of plants and ribbons, shells tied on, and carved scraps of bone and wood, which he had taught the men to cut for him, and they were beautifully illustrated.
He drew admirably. He had some of the funniest drawings there, and some of the most pathetic, that I have ever seen in my life. I wonder who will have Nolan's scrapbooks."

Well, he said his reading and his notes were his profession, and that they took five hours and two hours respectively of each day. "Then,"
said he, "every man should have a diversion as well as a profession. My natural history is my diversion." That he took two hours a day more. The men used to bring him birds and fish, but
on a long cruise he had to satisfy himself with centipedes and cockroaches and such small game. He was the only naturalist I ever met who knew anything about the habits of the house fly and the mosquito. All those people can tell you whether they are Lepidoptera or Steptoptera; but as for telling how you can get rid of them,
or how they get away from you when you strike them, why, Linnaeus knew
as little of that as John Foy, the idiot,
did. These nine hours made Nolan's regular daily "occupation." The rest of the time he talked or walked. Till he grew very old, he went aloft a great deal. He always kept up his exercise, and I never heard that he was ill. If any other man was ill, he was the kindest nurse in the world; and he knew more than half the surgeons do. Then if anybody was sick or died, or if the captain wanted him to on any other occasion, he was always ready to read prayers. I have remarked that he read beautifully.

My own acquaintance with Philip Nolan began six or eight years after the war, on my first voyage after I was appointed a midshipman. It was in the first days after our slave trade treaty, while the reigning house,
which was still the house of Virginia,
had still a sort of sentimentalism
about the suppression of the horrors
of the middle passage, and something

was sometimes done that way. We were in the South Atlantic on that business. From the time I joined, I believe I thought Nolan was a sort of lay chaplain—a chaplain with a blue coat. I never asked about him. Everything in the ship was strange to
me. I knew it was green to ask questions, and I suppose I thought there was a "Plain-Buttons" on every ship.
We had him to dine in our mess once a week, and the caution was given that
on that day nothing was to be said about home. But if they had told us not to say anything about the planet Mars or the book of Deuteronomy, I should not have asked why; there were
a great many things which seemed to me to have a little reason. I first came to understand anything about
"the man without a country" one day when we overhauled a dirty little schooner which had slaves on board.

An officer was sent to take charge of her, and after a few minutes he sent back his boat to ask that someone might be sent him who could speak Portuguese. We were all looking over the rail when the message came, and we all wished we could interpret, when the captain asked who spoke Portuguese. But none of the officers did;
and just as the captain was sending forward to ask if any of the people could, Nolan stepped out and said he should be glad to interpret. If the captain wished, as he understood the language. The captain thanked him, directed another boat with him, and in this boat it was my luck to go.

When we got there, it was such a scene as you seldom see, and never want to. Nastiness beyond account, and chaos run loose in the midst of the nastiness. There were not a great many of the negroes; but by way of making what there were understand that they were free, Vaughan, had had their handcuffs and anklet cuffs knocked off, and for convenience's sake, was putting them upon the rascals of the schooner's crew. The negroes were,
most of them, out of the hold, and
swarming all round the dirty deck, with a central throng surrounding Vaughan and addressing him in every dialect and patois of a dialect, from the Zulu click up to the Patisian of Beledjereed.

As we came on deck, Vaughan looked down from a hoghead, on which he had mounted in desperation,
and said:

"For God's love, is there anybody who can make these wretches understand something? The men gave them rum, and that did not quiet them. I thought they were half-civilized, but these devils there had got hold of her today."

I was frightened to death by his calm, hard passion; but I blundered
out that I would, all that was holy,
and that I had never thought of doing anything else. He hardly seemed to hear me, but he did, almost in a whisper, say: "Oh, if anybody had

I think it was this half-civilization of his, which I never abused, for I never told this story till now, which afterward made us great friends. He was very kind to me—often he sat up, or even got up, at night to walk the deck with me when it was my watch. He explained to me a great deal of my mathematics. He lent me books, and helped me about my reading. He never alluded so directly to his story again; but from one and another officer
I have learned, in thirty years, what I am telling. When we parted from him in St. Thomas harbor, at the end of our cruise, I was more sorry than I can tell. I was very glad to meet him again in 1890; and later in life, when I thought I had some influence in Washington, I moved heaven and earth to have him discharged.
But it was like getting a ghost out of prison. They pretended there was no such man, and never was such a man.
They will say so at the department
now! Perhaps they do not know. It will not be the first thing in the service of which the department appears

FARMER BEHIND THE TIMES

His Wife Tells How She Has Lived
for Many Years Without Modern Conveniences.

In the American Magazine a farmer's wife tells of some of her experiences. She says:

"My husband does not, or will not,
realize that the world has moved, and
that what were luxuries a generation ago are necessities now. One of my children died of typhoid fever, the germs of which were, no doubt, brought by flies from the house down the road where they had the disease; for we haven't a screen door in the house, and only a few cheap adjustable screens.

"We sleep on feather beds, because mattresses cost money, and the feather beds were in the house—a part of the furnishings that I married, when I took my husband for better or for worse. We have chairs with round backs, worn carpets, nicked dishes and cooking utensils that have long since outlived their usefulness.

"The house is inconvenient, and for that reason alone housework is much harder than it ought to be, and housework is hard enough in all conscience on a farm. We have no water in the house. For 25 years I have fetched and carried water. There are two steps between the kitchen and the dining room, which, by the way, was formerly a bedroom and has no place for a stove. The parlor is across a hall from the main part of the house and is only opened on special occasions."

South's Farm Production.
The Manufacturers' Record says that the total value of the South's agricultural products, including animal products, in 1916 was more than $4-650,000,000, or only 8 per cent less than the total for the United States in 1900.

The total value of the South's crops,
omitting live stock, in 1916 was $3,658-382,000, or $1,072,280,000 over 1915. To this cotton contributed $1,079,598,000, grain $1,283,369,000, and hay, tobacco
and potatoes $440,484,000.

Dollars and Sense.
A poet has been known to make dollars out of lines that ordinary mortals could not make sense out of.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Hushed the Men Down.

knocked that big fellow down twice,
and that did not soothe him. And then I talked Choctaw to all of them together; and I'll be hanged if they understood that as well as they understood the English."

Nolan said he could speak Portuguese, and one or two fine-looking Kroonens were dragged out, who, as it had been found already, had worked for the Portuguese on the coast at Fernando Po.

"Tell them they are free," said Vaughan; "and tell them that these rascals are to be hanged as soon as we can get rope enough."

Nolan explained it in such Portuguese as the Kroonens could understand, and they in turn to such of the negroes as could understand them.
Then there was such a yell of delight,
clinking of fists, leaping and dancing, kissing of Nolan's feet, and a general rush made to the hoghead by way of spontaneous worship of Vaughan as the deus ex machina of the occasion.

"Tell them," said Vaughan, well pleased, "that I will take them all to Cape Palmas."

This did not answer so well. Cape Palmas was practically as far from the homes of most of them as New Orleans or Rio Janeiro was; that is, they would be eternally separated from home there. And their interpreters, as we could understand, instantly said,
"Ah, non Palmas," and began to propose infinite other expedients in most valuable language. Vaughan was rather disappointed at this result of his liberality, and asked Nolan eagerly what they said. The drops stood on poor Nolan's white forehead as he hushed the men down, and said:

"He says, 'Not Palmas.' He says,
'Take us home, take us to our country, take us to our own house, take us
to our own pickaninies and our own women.' He says he has an old father and mother, who will die, if they do not see him. And this one says he left his people all sick, and paddled down to come and help them, and that these devils caught him in the bay just in sight of home, and that he has never seen anybody from home since then. And this one says," choked out Nolan, "that he has not heard a word from his home in six months, while he has been locked up

in an infernal barracoon."

Vaughan always said he grew gray himself while Nolan struggled through this interpretation. I, who did not understand anything of the passion involved in it, saw that the very elements were melting with fervent heat, and that something was to pay somewhere. Even the negroes themselves stopped howling as they saw Nolan's agony, and Vaughan's almost equal agony of sympathy. As quick as he could get words, he said:

"Tell them yes, yes; tell them they shall go to the Mountains of the Moon,
if they will. If I sail the schooner through the Great White Desert, they shall go home!"

And after some fashion Nolan said
so. And then they all fell to kissing him again and wanted to rub his nose with theirs.

But he could not stand it long; and getting Vaughan to say he might go back, he beckoned me down into our boat. As we lay back in the stern sheets and the men gave way, he said to me: "Youngster, let that show you what it is to be without a family, without a home, and without a country. And if you are ever tempted to say a word or to do a thing that shall put a bar between you and your family, your home, and your country, pray God in his mercy to take you that instant home to his own heaven. Stick by your family, boy; forget you have a self, while you do everything for them. Think of your home, boy; write and send, and talk about it. Let it be nearer and nearer to your thought,
the further you have to travel from it;
and rush to it, when you are free; as
that poor black slave is doing now.
And for your country, boy," and the words rattled in his throat, "and for that flag," and he pointed to the ship.

"Never dream a dream but of serving her as she bids you, though the service carry you through a thousand hells.
No matter who flatters you or who abuses you, never look at another flag, never let a night pass that you pray God to bless that flag. Remember, boy, that behind all these men you have to do with, behind officers, and government, and people even, there is the country itself, your country, and that you belong to her as you belong to your own mother. Stand by her, boy; as you would stand by your mother, if these devils there had got hold of her
today."

I was frightened to death by his
calm, hard passion; but I blundered
out that I would, all that was holy,
anything else. He hardly seemed to

The KITCHEN CABINET

When you get into a tight place and everything goes against you, until it seems you cannot hold on a minute longer, never give up, for that is just the place and time when the tide will turn.—Harriet Beecher Stowe

SEASONABLE DISHES.

This dish may be served hot with tomato sauce or cold, thinly sliced.

Veal Omelet.—Put three cupsful of cold cooked veal through the food chopper, with one slice of salt pork, add three crackers rolled fine, one beaten egg, two tablespoonsful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper and nutmeg. Mold in a pan with hot water, rub over the loaf with softened butter and sprinkle with crumbs. Bake while roasting and serve when the crumbs are brown.

Planked White Fish.—Clean and split a white fish and put it skin-side down on a well buttered plank one and a half inches thick. Sprinkle with salt and paprika, lemon juice and melted butter. Cook the fish in a hot oven until tender. Garnish with hot mashed potato forced through a pastry bag. Brown the potatoes slightly before serving.

Caper Stuffing for Fish.—Take three slices of bread and a slice of salt pork finely chopped. Add a tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of capers, one-half teaspoonful of sweet marjoram and stuff the fish.

Cucumber Cream Sauce for Fish.—Whip one cupful of cream until stiff, add a tablespoonful of vinegar, salt and paprika to taste and continue beating. When stiff enough to hold its shape fold in one pared and chopped cucumber.

Hollandaise Sauce for Fish.—Wash a half cupful of butter in cold water, using a wooden spoon to press out the water. Put one-third of the butter in a double boiler with the yolks of two eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Place the saucepan over hot water and beat constantly until the butter is melted, then another third of the butter, beating as before; as it thickens add the last third with the salt and seasonings needed.

Onion Cream Sauce for Meat.—Make a rich white sauce and add a cupful of halved onions chopped fine, season well with salt and pepper and serve with meat, poultry or fish.

Pressed Veal.—Cook together three pounds of veal, one onion sliced, two stalks of diced celery, one tablespoonful of sugar, one and a half tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, two tablespoonfuls of tomato catchup, two teaspoonfuls of salt. Heat a cupful of minced mushrooms are added to the meat after it is cooked and chopped. Moisten with enough of the meat stock to mold, then pack into a bowl and cover with a plate.

One who claims that he knows about it. Tells me the world is a vale of sin; But I and the bees and the birds, we doubt it. And think it a world worth living in.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A DAY WITH THE OMELET.

We have begun to take courage again at the price of eggs and to see times when an omelet will not cause ruin to the family finances.

A small omelet is easier to prepare and also a better more satisfactory than a large one made with eight to ten eggs unless they are cooked as small omelets, for too large a one is apt to be tough and either under or overdone. Four eggs makes a good-sized omelet to be successful.

Italian Cheese Omelet.—Separate whites and yolks of three eggs, add three tablespoonfuls of water, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper to the yolks, beating well. Whip the whites until light and stiff but not dry, stir in the yolks lightly and put into a hot buttered omelet pan. When ready to fold sprinkle thickly with a well flavored cheese, fold in half and place in a hot oven after sprinkling with cheese. Remove when the cheese is melted and sprinkle with finely minced parsley.

Celery Omelet.—Beat the yolks of two eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of cream, two of chopped celery and salt and pepper to season. Fold in the well beaten whites of the eggs, cook in a hot buttered pan until lightly browned underneath, then place in the oven to finish on top. Fold and turn out on a hot platter. A rich white sauce may be served with this, making a most satisfactory luncheon dish.

Bread Omelet.—To a cupful of bread crumbs add one cupful of cream or rich milk, one tablespoonful of butter a little nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. When the crumbs have absorbed the cream add three well beaten eggs and fry in a well buttered pan.

of flour, a little salt and a fourth of a teaspoonful of vanilla, and the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Cook as you omelet, cover with jelly and sprinkle with powdered sugar before folding.

Be false and falsehoods will waste to you; love, and adventures will flock to you, throbbing with love.—Master Lincoln.

MORE GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

Some of these dishes may find favor, adding variety to the diet and furnishing new combinations.

Chili Stew.—Cut in small pieces, or grind, one and a half pounds of round steak. Add to it one and a half tablespoonfuls each of olive oil and butter, add six tablespoonfuls of chopped onion and one clove of garlic, fry until a light brown color. Add one and a half tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, and three tablespoonfuls of chili powder, stirring well. Pour in enough hot water to cover the bottom of the frying pan and cook with the meat 15 minutes, then add three cupfuls of tomato. Blend one and a half tablespoonfuls of flour with some of the tomato juice, add to the stew and place in a casserole to cook well covered for an hour. Serve with rice or noodles.

Spring Salad.—Mix together three cupfuls of finely shredded cabbage, half a cupful of diced apple, one-fourth of a cupful of diced celery, one cupful of grated pineapple, all moistened with boiled dressing and served on lettuce.

Fish Souffle.—Make a white sauce of two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour; when well blended add a cupful and a half of milk, cook until smooth and add to this a teaspoonful of grated onion, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, and a large can of fish flakes which should be picked apart with a fork. Beat three eggs yolks until light, add to this mixture and then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a buttered dish until firm in the center, then serve at once with tomato sauce.

Fried Chicken de Luxe.—Sift a fourth of a teaspoonful of baking powder into the flour in which the chicken is rolled before frying. Beat one egg, add crumbs and baking powder, beating well then dip your chicken or any food to be breaded in this mixture, frying as usual. This method gives a richer crumbing than simply egg with crumbs.

The man who is really accomplishing something does not have time to stand around telling about it.

GOOD THINGS WORTH TRYING.

There is so little variety used in the preparation of tongue, that this recipe may appeal to the one who is fond of change.

Tongue With Blackberry Jelly.—Cook a fresh tongue until very tender in water containing a teaspoonful of mixed pickle-spice, one or two bay leaves in addition to those in the package, and a few dry celery tips. When very tender, remove the skin, trim off the root end and stick the meat with a few cloves. Place in a buttered baking dish, dust with salt and pour over a glass of blackberry jelly or jam, a cupful of raisins that have been softened in the juice of a lemon and cooked in a tender fruit cupful of water. Bake often and bake 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Kidney Beans With Oxtails.—Soak two and half cupfuls of kidney beans overnight. In the morning rinse thoroughly and put into a large kettle or saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, two large onions chopped, a third of a teaspoonful of pepper, and a quart can of tomatoes. Boil 30 minutes and then add two oxtails well cleaned and cut up. Simmer for four hours. This dish will serve a large family.

A half cupful of chopped, freshly roasted peanuts added to creamed potatoes, just as they are ready to serve, makes a new dish of creamed potatoes. A few peanuts added to a potato salad improves that also.

Cream Orange Sherbet.—Boil together three cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar and a little yellow from the rind of an orange for five minutes. Remove the rind and chop, then add a half cupful each of lemon and orange juice, freeze slightly, turn in a cupful of cream or rich milk and finish freezing.

Orange Biscuit.—Make small dainty biscuits from rich baking powder biscuit dough. Grate the rind from an orange and press out the juice. Dip in many lumps of sugar in the orange juice as there are biscuit and plunge each lump into the center of each biscuit, sprinkle with the grated rind and bake in a hot oven. Serve hot or cold.

Hooks Without Moles. Persons living in apartments or furnished rooms will find this a useful device for increasing closet capacity. Fasten one end of a heavy wire—picture wire works well—to a hook in the closet, thread the other end through the spring of a patent clothespin, and the wire about the second hook and so on around the closet until there is a clothespin between each pair of hooks. ## POTATOES MENAGED BY SCAB AND SCURF

Use of Formaldehyde and Corrosive Sublimite Will Mean Big Saving to Michigan Farmers.

East Lansing, Mich.—The old foes of the Michigan farmer, potato scab and black scurf—the latter known as "chicotonia" in an exclusive scientific circle, will take the field in force this coming summer to work havoc with the tuber crop unless something is done to checkmate them, say potato specialists of the Michigan Agricultural college. The "something" which the potato experts are recommending is formaldehyde for the scab, or corrosive sublimate—where both the scab and black scurf are present. In those sections of the state where farmers failed to treat their seed last summer, the losses from black scurf alone ranged from 10 to 15 per cent of the crop in most cases, and as high as 25 per cent in others. In no field among those inspected was the loss greater than 2 per cent where the precaution had been taken to treat the seed.

Corrosive Sublimite Back Again. "It cleans, smooths potatoes and is infected before planting," say the men who have studied the tubers through all their troubles and trials, "the scab can be reduced to a minimum. Farmers in general must depend upon seed treatment to protect their crop. Long ago a corrosive sublimate dip was devised and gained great popularity, but later this was largely replaced by the formaldehyde treatment, which had the advantage of being cheap and practically nonpoisonous. Now, however, the old-fashioned corrosive sublimate dip is again being recommended because it not only checks the scab, but controls black scurf as well.

POTATO SCAB, THE TUBER'S FOE.

This disease, with Black Scurf, annually causes a heavy loss to the Michigan crop. Treatment with corrosive sublimate will control both.

"Corrosive sublimate is more effective than formaldehyde when it is used to kill black scurf, but it is advisable, when it is employed, to treat the seed when it is dormant. When there is little or no evidence of black scurf, the tubers may be treated with formaldehyde. It is as effective against the scab as the corrosive sublimate, and because it is not so poisonous, is less dangerous to use.

Details of Treatment. "Formaldehyde (40 per cent strength) is used at the rate of one pound or pint to 30 gallons of water. The potatoes should be soaked one and one-half to two hours. This one solution may be used repeatedly.

"Corrosive sublimate is used at the rate of 10 to 30 gallons of water, and the seed should be soaked in this solution for one and one-half hours, but no longer. The sublimate should be renewed after three or four batches have been treated, as it loses its potency very rapidly. Corrosive sublimate, it may be added, is a deadly poison, and should be kept where children and live stock will not have access to it.

"The potatoes may be treated several weeks before planting, if care is taken not to re-infect them by placing them in the old sacks, or in crates which have not been disinfected. Some growers prefer to treat just before planting, but in any event, the treatment should be made before the seed is cut.

"When only a few bushels of potatoes have been taken out of the solution, it is a good plan to dip them in clear water, or pour water over them to prevent further action by the chemicals with which they have been treated. If the potatoes are to be kept some time before being planted, they should be spread out and dried."

Worse and More of It.

Will Tellum was furious. He dashed into the editorial sanctum of the "Chin Waager" over the prostrate form of the office boy, and confronted the editor himself. "Look here," he bellowed, "this paper said I was a liar!" "Oh, no, it did not," replied the editor calmly. "I did, I say, 'I say, No.'"

"Well, some paper said it!" spluttered Tellum. "Possibly it was our own copy!"

"Possibly down the street," said the editor sweetly, "Angering a paper weight."

"We never print stale news!"

Pasturing Hogs in This Crop Makes It Possible to Reduce Grain Ration.

East Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers, who in these days of sky-high feed prices feel that fattening hogs on real grain is something like "feeding Peter to pay Paul," may be able to find a way out of their difficulties this season by pasturing their porkers on alfalfa, according to animal husbandry men of the Michigan Agricultural college. Alfalfa pasture, experiments have indicated, can be successfully substituted for much of the high-priced grain ration.

"Breeding animals pastured on alfalfa," the experimenters have found, "may be carried through the summer in good condition with very little grain, though growing shoats should get at least one-half full feed of grain, or from two to three pounds per 100 pounds live weight, as their digestive systems cannot handle a large amount of roughage.

"In trying out the pasturing plan in 1915 and 1916, ten acres of alfalfa of uniform stand were divided into five-acre plots. Four portable cuts were placed in a small feed lot between the two pastures to give the animals protection from the sun and inclement weather. Alfalfa crop was placed in one corner where the pigs could be fed by themselves. A hog oler, and a box containing salt and a conditioner were also provided, water being supplied daily in troughs and an automatic waterer. The idea of the experiment was to pasture the alfalfa lightly and mow the remainder for hay.

"Eight sows with 60 spring pigs were turned into the No. 1 five-acre plot on May 12. No. 2 was mown on June 22, and later, when the crop in this second field was from 6 to 8 inches high the pigs were turned in here. Plot No. 1 was then mown. This plan was carried out through the summer, the pigs being transferred alternately from one field to the other and the remaining hay cut in the field they had left. Three cuttings of good hay were obtained from one field, and two cuttings from the other, the yield averaging about three tons to the acre.

"In addition to the alfalfa pasturage, a grain ration of three parts corn and two parts middlings was fed to the sows at the rate of 2-1-10 pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, making about a 3-5 full ration. A small amount of middlings was given the pigs in the creep, though the amount was increased as they grew. After the pigs were weaned, they were fed a mixture of two parts middlings and one part corn at the rate of three pounds daily per 100 pounds live weight, the middlings being decreased gradually, however, and the corn increased in proportion, until along towards fall they were getting equal parts of corn and middlings. If they had been fed a full grain ration, from four and a half to five pounds of grain would have been required daily.

"The big thing which the experiment demonstrated was that it is practical and economical to pasture hogs in an alfalfa field and at the same time mow the field for hay as if the hogs had not been placed in it. The pigs made good gains, the quality of the hay was not injured, and the stand of alfalfa was just as good the year following as were the alfalfa fields that had not been pastured."

FREE RANGE FOR THE SHEEP

Upper Peninsula Opens Cut-Over Lands to Pasture as War Measure.

East Lansing, Mich.—One of the most decisive moves in the direction of promoting food production in Michigan has been made by upper peninsula men, who have thrown open 25,000 acres of cut-over lands to sheep or live-stock men who wish to graze stock on them. The animal husbandry department of the Michigan Agricultural college, accordingly, has offered to act as intermediary between southern Michigan sheep and stockmen who would like to send their flocks north and the men in the Lake Superior country who have made the offer of free pastures.

In its essence the plan is this: Men with flocks in southern Michigan have been invited to send their sheep north for the season to graze on the ideal pasture lands of the upper peninsula. By so doing the acreage which these animals require for grazing in this section of the state will be made available for crops. The upper peninsula land, on the other hand, because most of it has not been rid of stumps is unsuitable for crops in its present condition, but affords excellent pasture—a fact which has been repeatedly demonstrated by experiments conducted by the college and by northern Michigan individuals. Men shipping their sheep or stock to the free pastures, however, will be required to pay the usual transportation charges, and to make arrangements for having the sheep looked after while they are on the range.

But even so, the plan is such a practicable one, that one of southern Michigan's biggest sheep men has already begun the northward movement by making preparations to ship 2,000 head of sheep to the free pasture lands, while several thousand head have also come in from the West. Sheepmen and live-stock raisers have been advised that they can be placed in touch with the livestock end of the war plans by communicating with W. F. Raven, livestock extension man for the college.

Put the Dollar to Work. When a manufacturer or other producer of real wealth does a profitable business and turns his profits back into the business, he gives employment to men and creates more real wealth and progress for his country. He does more real good for his fellow men than he would if he gave all his profits in charity, because it is better to make people self-supporting and independent than it is to give them something for nothing no matter how worthy the motives may be.

SEVEN STATES ARE HIT BY TORNADOES

ONE HUNDRED SIXTY-ONE DEAD AND MORE THAN 1,000 PERSONS INJURED.

PROPERTY LOSS $5,000,000

Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky and Alabama, Hit By Fierce Storms.

Chicago—More than 150 persons were killed, 1,000 or more injured and millions of dollars worth of property destroyed by tornadoes which swept through Kansas Friday, Illinois and Indiana Saturday and parts of Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Alabama and Southern Illinois Sunday.

Reports indicate a large amount of farm implements, needed to produce the bumper crop desired this year, was ruined; although the spasmodic wind struck only here and there in its frightful play through the rural regions. Crop damage is said to be not heavy in grain.

Mattoon, Illinois, Hardest Hit. The heaviest toll of life was taken at Mattoon, Ill., a city of 10,000 population in the broom-corn country of central Illinois, where 54 are known to be dead and 500 injured, with a property loss of $2,000,000. Charleston, Ill., 10 miles east of Mattoon also was wrecked partly Saturday evening, with a loss of 28 lives and 150 injured. The property loss there is $1,000,000.

The next most serious loss was at Andale, Kan., where 26 were killed and a score injured. Friday, Dublin, Ky., suffered three dead and 17 injured.

South Dyersburg, Tenn., was reported to have lost six killed and 32 injured in a tornado that swept Dyer country Sunday. Near Blytheville, Ark., nine persons were reported killed and a dozen hurt.

Reports from Indiana show at least seven persons were killed at Hebron, Kouts and other places, and the death list may reach 20. More than 200 were injured in the Indiana territory swept by the storm.

Smaller towns in Illinois lost a dozen dead Saturday, with two scores injured, while in the southern point of Illinois wind storms killed a half dozen and injured a score.

Property Damage $5,000,000. A summary of the tornado dead and injured follows:

	Dead	Injured
Mattoon, Ill.	54	500
Charleston, Ill.	28	150
Other Illinois towns.	18	65
Andale, Kan.	26	60
Arkansas	9	19
Indiana	7	200
Tennessee	6	32
Kentucky	3	17
Total	161	1036

Property damage, $5,000,000.

RIOTS AT PEACE MEETING

Fight Started When Speaker Criticized President Wilson.

Chicago—A riot in a peace meeting in Grant park Sunday resulted in the arrest of eight speakers who had denounced President Wilson.

The crowd was composed of persons unable to gain admittance to a meeting in the Auditorium theater, where the government set forth in simple language the terms upon which it will make peace with Germany.

The Grant park peace meeting was peaceful until George Roop, a speaker, criticized President Wilson. Then soldiers and civilians joined in general fight with a large number of pacifists.

Scores of prominent pacifists and Socialists attended the meeting in the Auditorium, among them being Miss Jane Addams and Dean Robert M. Lovett, of the University of Chicago.

There was no criticism of the administration at the Auditorium for criticism of the war, but the crowd cheered speakers who said that if this war is a people's war, the people must know upon what terms it will be stopped.

"We are told that we are fighting for democracy," said Seymour Steadman, Socialist, "but do we mean democracy for India, for Ireland and for other nations oppressed by the British empire? Let us make that one of the terms of peace."

Fort Huron—James Waterworth, 74 years old, for 40 years a Grand Trunk engineer, running between this city and Detroit, died from injuries he received when struck by an automobile several weeks ago.

Pontiac—Mrs. Mary Jewell, aged 70, was found dead in the basement of her home. She was stricken with apoplexy while doing a washing. A pan full of clothes left on a gas stove had burned up.

Detroit—Fort Wayne may be converted into a hospital for United States soldiers wounded in France. The government has requested the plans of the fort and they have been forwarded with this in view. Central location and proximity to the river are recommendations for using the buildings.

GAME FISHING

DIXIE CARROLL
Author of LAKE AND STREAM GAME FISHING

BAIT CASTING LINES.

My Dear Buck:

Many a fish, old scout, has been lost on the first three feet of the line, not on account of the weakness of the entire line, or poor quality, but solely from the wear and fraying on the end of the bait casting line due to the friction on the guides and the pull of the bait in its start to the fish. The wear is far greater on the first few feet of the line than any other part, and to be sure of your fish, you must be sure of the strength of that basic part of your tackle, the line that lands 'em. One of the big points to remember in the care of the line is to test it every now and then and break off a foot or two when it shows weakness. The snapping of a good line can be avoided by this little precaution.

Soft Braid Versus Hard Braid. The only line to be considered for bait casting is the braided silk, and of this kind we have the choice between the hard and soft braided. Of the former it can be said it wears well and absorbs practically no water, but as a casting line it takes a bad seat to the soft braided affair. Owing to the ease with which the soft braided line slides from the reel, it makes the best possible line for casting, and you can thumb it all day without burning the thumb into the quick, which is more than you can say for the hard braided.

For general bait casting with plugs and artificials of the wobbler variety you should have a No. 5 line. Some manufacturers lettering their product make a G size which corresponds to the No. 5. For the lighter lures of the spoon, pork-rind and minnow class let your selection be a No. 6 or H size.

Don't Use a Rope. The big mistake of the beginner, as well as lots of sure-fire fishermen, old man, is to select a line that is too large and heavy. It is absolutely impossible to do accurate casting with a big, heavy, clumsy line, and at that it is entirely unnecessary. With the ordinary tackle few fishermen can put more than four or five pounds pull on the line if the rod is used properly, and if it is not the rod will "go" before the line.

I do not think it is necessary to use a line of greater test strength than 12 or 15 pounds for ordinary casting, unless, of course, you are casting for muskie, northern pike or pickerel. For general bass casting a 15-pound test line will more than fill the bill and at the same time keep your line down to a size that will make your casting far easier than with the heavier and more bulky line which piles up on your reel so quick that it fouls on the reel pillars and makes casting about as enjoyable as handling a towline on a tug.

Dry Yarn Line After Fishing. One of the simplest ways to put a good line out of the game is to let it dry on the reel; do this a few times, Buck, and your line is n. g., no matter what high quality goods you started with. In drying on a reel only the top layers of the line really dry; the balance molds and rots so as to be in fine shape to break when you hook that big one. All of which points to the fact that you should reel out your line after each day's fishing, hanging it between two convenient trees and let it dry out thoroughly before putting it to bed. Don't let it lie along the ground or dry out in the sun, and with the above care you will add 100 per cent to its life.

Another way to put a good casting line on the hummer is to use it for trolling. No matter how many swivels you have on your line while trolling, it will become so twisted that it is a series of ugly lashes. When you think it's time to use a new line for casting, shoot the old one into the trolling department, and die happy casting the new one.

Easy to Waterproof a Line. To avoid soaking up too much water in your casting line, which makes it heavy, you can waterproof it by saturating it in a solution of vaseline and light oil. You can apply the oil either by rubbing it into the line with a well-soaked cloth or apply it in bulk by heating the entire line at once. If you oil the line while still on the original spool let it soak about 20 to 30 minutes; if you have the line wrapped loosely on a stick much shorter time, about ten minutes, will do the trick. In either case wipe off all the surplus oil. This will not only waterproof your line, but will make it pliant and flexible and the lubricant will reduce the friction on the guides, saving wear on the line and aid it in running smoothly and easily under the thumb, DIXIE.

South Taking Up Golf. In the territory south of the Mason and Dixon line there is a total of 132 first-class golf courses, 57 being in nine holes and 75 of 18, this total including Jamaica, Bermuda and Cuba. Jamaica has a good course of nine holes, and Cuba has in the Havana Country club one of the best 18-hole courses in the South.

This Car Is Worthy of Your Confidence

You can buy a Saxon car secure in the knowledge that you are getting full value in tried
and proven motor car mechanism.

Saxon cars are built to win the confidence of their owner—and they do. But first they
must win the confidence of their builders—
and this they could not if they embodied any
feature or any part of unproved worth.

So no Saxon principle of construction has ever been changed until a better principle has fully proved its greater value. And so no Saxon car has ever embodied features of doubtful worth.

Saxon cars have simply been in a state of
transition, passing thru phase after phase of
gradual improvement without a break in production. They are refined from time to time,
not radically changed.

They are in the fullest sense of the phrase, products of evolution. They are developed rather than built.

can feel confident is right before you put down your

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

"I am showing them how we do this
in the artillery, sir."

And this is a part of the story where all the legends agree; that the commodore said:

"I see you do, and I thank you, sir;
and I shall never forget this day, sir,
and you never shall, sir."

and he had the Englishman's sword,
in the midst of the state and ceremony
of the quarterdeck, he said:

"Where is Mr. Nolan? Ask Mr. Nolan to come here."

And when Nolan came, the captain
said:

"Mr. Nolan, we are all very grateful to you today; you are one of us today;
you will be named in the dispatches."

And then the old man took off his own sword of ceremony, and gave it to Nolan, and made him put it on. The man told me this way it was. Nolan cried like a baby, and well he might.
He had not worn a sword since that
infernal day at Fort Adams. But always afterward, on occasions of ceremony, he wore that quaint old French
sword of the commodore's.

The captain did mention him in the dispatches. It was always said he asked that he might be pardoned. He wrote a special letter to the secretary of war. But nothing ever came of it.
As I said, that was about the time
when they began to ignore the whole transaction at Washington, and when Nolan's imprisonment began to carry itself on because there was nobody to stop it without any new orders from
home.

I have heard it said that he was with
Nukuhiva islands. Not this Porter,
you know, but old Porter, his father,
Essex Porter, that is, the old Essex
Porter, not this Essex. As an artiller-ist officer, who had seen service in the West, Nolan knew more about fortifications, embarrases, ravelines, stockades, and all that, than any of
them did; and he worked with a right
right. I have always thought it was a pity Porter did not leave him in command there with Gannett. That would have settled all the question
about his punishment. We should have kept the islands, and at this moment we should have one station in the Pacific ocean. Our French friends,
too, when they wanted this little watering place, would have found it was pre-occupied. But Madison and the Virginians, of course, flung all that
away.

All that was near fifty years ago.
If Nolan was thirty then, he must have been near eighty when he died.
He looked sixty when he was forty.
But he never seemed to me to change
a hair afterward. As I imagine his life, from what I have seen and heard
of it, he must have been in every sea,
and yet almost never on land. He must have known in a formal way,
more officers in our service than any
with a grave smile, that no man in the
world lived so methodical a life as he.
"You know the boys say I am the Iron Mask, and you know how busy
he was." He said it did not do for anyone to try to read all the time, more than to do anything except all the time;
but that he read just five hours a day.
"Then," he said, "I keep up my notebooks, writing in them at such and such hours from what I have been reading; and I include in them my scraps." These were very curious indeed. He had six or eight, of different subjects. There was one of history, one of natural science, one which he called "Odds and Ends." But they were not merely books of extracts
from newspapers. They had bits of plants and ribbons, shells tied on, and curved scraps of bone and wood, which he had taught the men to cut for him.
He drew admirably. He had some of the funniest drawings there, and some
of the most pathetic; that I have ever seen in my life. I wonder who will have Nolan's scrapbooks.

Well, he said his reading and his
notes were his profession, and that
respectively of each day. "Then,"
said he, "every man should have a diversion as well as a profession. My natural history is my diversion." That took two hours a day more. The men used to bring him birds and fish; but
on a long cruise he had to satisfy himself with centipedes and cockroaches
and such small game. He was the only naturalist I ever met who knew anything about the habits of the house fly
and the mosquito. All those people can tell you whether they are Lepidoptera or Steptoptera; but as for
telling how you can get rid of them,
or how they get away from you when
you strike them, why, Linnaeus knew
as little of that as John Foy, the idiot,
did. These nine hours made Nolan's regular daily "occupation." The rest of the time he talked or walked. Till
he grew very old, he went aloft a great deal. He always kept up his exercise,
and I never heard that he was ill. If
any other man was ill, he was the kind-
est nurse in the world; and he knew
more than half the surgeons do. Then if anybody was sick or died, or if the
captain wanted him to, on any other
occasion, he was always ready to read
prayers. I have remarked that he read beautifully.

My own acquaintance with Philip Nolan began six or eight years after the war, on my first voyage after I was appointed a midshipman. It was in the first days after our slave trade treaty, while the reigning house,
which was still the house of Virginia,
had still a sort of sentimentalism
about the suppression of the horrors
of the middle passage, and something

was sometimes done that way. We were in the South Atlantic on that business. From the time I joined, I believe I thought Nolan was a sort of
lay chaplain—a chaplain with a blue
coat. I never asked about him. Everything in the ship was strange to
me. I knew it was green to ask questions, and I suppose I thought there was a "Plain-Buttons" on every ship.
We had him to dine in our mess once
a week, and the caution was given that
on that day nothing was to be said
about home. But if they had told us
not to say anything about the planet
Mars or the book of Deuteronomy, I
a great many things which seemed to me to have a little reason. I first came to understand anything about
"the man without a country" one day when he overhauled a dirty little scholarship which had slaves on board.
An officer was sent to take charge of
her, and after a few minutes he sent
back his boat to ask that someone
might be sent him who could speak Portuguese. We were all looking over the rail when the message came, and
we all wished we could interpret, when the captain asked who spoke Portuguese. But none of the officers did;
and just as the captain was sending
could, Nolan stepped out and said he could be glad to interpret. If the captain wished, as he understood the language. The captain thanked him, fitted out another boat with him, and in this boat it was my luck to go.

When we got there, it was such a scene as you seldom see, and never
want to. Nastiness beyond account,
and chaos run loose in the midst of the nastiness. There were not a great many of the negroes; but by way of
making what there were understand
their handcuffs and anklet-cuffs knocked off, and for convenience sake, was putting them upon the rascals of the schooner's crew. The negroes were most of them, out of the hold, and
swarming all round the dirty deck,
with a central throng surrounding Vaughan and addressing him in every
dialect and patois of a dialect, from the Zulu click up to the Persian of Reledelelelele.

As we came on deck, Vaughan looked down from a highstand, on which he had mounted in desperation,
and said:

"For God's love, is there anybody
who can make these wretches understand something? The men gave them sign, and that did not quiet them. I

Hushed the Men Down.

knocked that big fellow down twice,
and that did not soothe him. And then I talked Choctaw to all of them together; and I'll be hanged if they understood that as well as they understood the English."

Nolan said he could speak Portuguese, and one or two fine-looking Kroonmen were dragged out, who, as it had been found already, had worked for the Portuguese on the coast at Fernando Po.

"Tell them they are free," said Vaughan; "and tell them that these rascals are to be hanged as soon as we can get rope enough."

Nolan explained it in such Portuguese as the Kroonmen could understand, and they in turn to such of the negroes as could understand them.
Then there was such a yell of delight,
clinging of fists, leaping and dancing,
kissing of Nolan's feet, and a general
rush made to the hoghead by way of spontaneous worship of the occasion.

"Tell them," said Vaughan, well pleased, "that I will take them all to Cape Palmas."

This did not answer so well. Cape Palmas was practically as far from the homes of most of them as New Orleans or Rio Janeiro was; that is, they would be eternally separated from
home there. And their interpreters, as
we could understand, instantly said,
"Ah, non Palmas," and began to propose infinite other expedients in most valuable language. Vaughan was rather disappointed at this result of his
liberality, and asked Nolan eagerly
what they said. The drops stood on poor Nolan's white forehead as he
hushed the men down, and said:

"He says, 'Not Palmas.' He says,
'Take us home, take us to our country, take us to our own house, take us
to our own pickaninies and our own women.' He says he has an old father and mother who will die, if they do not see him. And this one
says he left his people all sick, and peddled down to come and help them,

and that these devils caught him in
the bay just in sight of home, and
that he has never seen anybody from
home since then. And this one says," choked out Nolan, "that he has not
heard a word from his home in six months, while he has been locked up
in an infernal barracoon."

Vaughan always said he grew gray
himself while Nolan struggled through this interpretation. I who did not understand anything of the passion involved in it, saw that the very elements were melting with fervent heat,
and that something was to pay somewhere. Even the negroes themselves stopped howling as they saw Nolan's
agony, and Vaughan's almost equal agony of sympathy. As quick as he could get words, he said:

"Tell them yes, yes; tell them they
shall go to the Mountains of the Moon,
if they will. If I sail the schooner
through the Great White Desert, they
shall go home!"

And after some fashion Nolan said
so. And then they all fell to kissing
him again and wanted to rub his nose
with theirs.

But he could not stand it long; and
getting Vaughan to say he might go back, he beckoned me down into our boat. As we lay back in the stern
sheets and the men gave way, he said
to me: "Youngster, let that show you
what it is to be without a family, without a home, and without a country. And if you are ever tempted to say a word or to do a thing that shall put a bar between you and your family,
your home, and your country, pray
God in his mercy to take you that instant home to his own heaven. Stick
by your family, boy; forget you have
a self, while you do everything for them. Think of your home, boy; write
and send, and talk about it. Let it
be nearer and nearer to your thought;
the further you have to travel from it;
and rush to it, when you are free, as
that poor black slave is doing now.
And for your country, boy," and the words rattled in his throat, "and for
that flag," and he pointed to the ship,
"never dream a dream but of serving
her as she bids you, though the service carry you through a thousand hello. No matter what happens to you, no matter who flatters you or who abuses you, never look at another flag, never let a night pass but you pray God to bless that flag. Remember, boy, that behind all these men you have to do with, behind all these officers, and government, and people over there, is the country
belong to her as you belong to your own mother. Stand by her, boy, as you would stand by your mother; if these devils there had got hold of her
today!"

I was frightened to death by his
calm, hard passion; but I blundered out that I would; by all that was holy,
and that I had never thought of doing
anything else. He hardly seemed to hear me; but he did, almost in a whisper, say: "Oh, if anybody had

I think it was this half-confidence of his, which I never abused, for I never told this story till now, which afterward made us great friends. He was very kind to me. Often he sat up, or even got up, at night to walk the deck
with me when it was my watch. He explained to me a great deal of my mathematics. He lent me books, and helped me about my reading. He never
alluded so directly to his story again; but from one and another officer I have learned, in thirty years, what I am telling. When we parted from him in St. Thomas harbor, at the end of our cruise, I was more sorry
than I can tell. I was very glad to meet him again in 1880; and later in life, when I thought I had some influence in Washington, I moved heaven and earth to have him discharged.
But it was like getting a ghost out of prison. They pretended there was no
such man, and never was such a man.
They will say so at the department
now! Perhaps they do not know. It will not be the first thing in the service of which the department appears
to know nothing!

Conveniences.

In the American Magazine a farmer's wife tells of some of her experiences. She says:
"My husband does not, or will not,
realize that the world has moved, and
that what were luxuries a generation
ago are necessities now. One of my children died of typhoid fever, the
germs of which were, no doubt, brought
by flies from the house down the road
where they had the disease; for we haven't a screen door in the house, and
only a few cheap adjustable screens."

"We sleep on feather beds, because
mattresses cost money, and the feather
beds were in the house—a part of the furnishings that I married, when I took
have chairs with rounds missing, worn carpets, nicked dishes and cooking
utensils that have long since outlived
their usefulness."

"The house is inconvenient, and for
that reason alone housework is much
harder than it ought to be, and house-
work is hard enough in all conscience
on a farm. We have no water in the house. For 25 years I have fetched and carried water. There are two steps between the kitchen and the dining room, which, by the way, was formerly a bedroom and has no place for
a stove. The parlor is across a hall
from the main part of the house and is
only opened on special occasions."

South's Farm Production.
The Manufacturers' Record says
that the total value of the South's agricultural products, including animal
products, in 1916 was more than $4, 650,000,000, or only 8 per cent less than
the total for the United States in 1900.
The total value of the South's crops,
omitting live stock, in 1916 was $3,638, 382,000, or $1,072,280,000 over 1915. To this cotton contributed $1,070,598,000, grain $1,283,899,000, and hay, tobacco
and potatoes $440,494,000.

off any corn or callus
without pain or soreness.
A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it Freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone, like here shown, for very little cost.

You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.
Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns be-painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't Freezone, tell him to order a

MOVIE DOINGS

NEAL HART LIVED THE LIFE HE PLAYS

Neal Hart, who has the lead in the Gold Seal picture "Bill Brennan's Calm," is one of the picture players who is now reproducing for the camera the life which he has lived in earnest for many years.

There is of Scotch-Irish descent and was born in New York state, but he has attitude of Washington, D. C., during the exploration of the Spanish Dig-gess country in Wyoming.

Hart is really a civil engineer by profession and was superintendent of construction for the Thurman branch of the Delaware & Hudson railroad in the Adirondacks, with a force of 800 men under his orders. He held the same position with the Pittsfield Electric Traction company, at Pitts-ville, and at Keeneyville, Ill.

He spent some time in South Dakota, where he drove the freight team from Fort Pierre to Rapid City. He punched cows for two years on the Sioux Indian reservation at the mouth of the Cheyenne river. He was foreman of 77 Ranch in Wyoming, and manager of another ranch at Willow for many years. He has worn the insignia of city marshal in earnest at Manitowish, Wyo., and been deputy sheriff and brand inspector at Converse county in the same state.

One of his "jobs" was buyer and advance man to handle all the inspections and shipping of horses for the British government, for the use of the army. He has also seen his name on the posters of the 101-Wild West Show, touring the country as a bucking horse rider. If there is any variety of Western life which Hart does not know from personal experience, it is because it exists only in the imagination of the writers of so-called "Western" stories and pictures.

He says that he went into pictures because the work is so fascinating, and he made his first hit in the Bluebird photoplay called "Love's Lariat," in which he supported Harry Carey in a role which he managed to make a man in pictures who has had a more interesting career than Neal Hart.

Later he acted as guide for the

PATRIOTIC SERVICE ASKED OF HOME WOMEN.

The following excerpt from a statement of Secretary of Agriculture indicates the service which may be rendered by home women:

"Demonstrate thrift in your homes and encourage thrift among your neighbors.

Make saving rather than spending your social standard.

Make economy fashionable lest it become obligatory.

Waste in any individual household may seem to be insignificant but if only a single ounce of edible food, on the average, is allowed to spoil or be thrown away in each of our 20,000,000 homes, over 1,300,000 pounds of material would be wasted each day. It takes the fruit of many acres and the work of many people to raise, prepare and distribute 464,000,000 pounds of food a year. Every ounce of food thrown away, therefore, tends to waste the labor of an army of busy citizens."

Barry Another Joffre.

A single glimpse of General Joffre is sufficient to set off the fireworks in the American heart and the American throat. Men, women and children have gone wild with enthusiasm over the great marshal of France. "And there's a reason," Joffre is a man of deeds, a field soldier and not a new-paper or parlor hero. He says little and does much. In France he won the greatest battle of history. To the American congress he made a speech of four words and sat down.

Major General Thomas H. Barry, commander of the Central department of the United States army, is another Joffre. He is a hard and swift hitting soldier and not a parlor diplomat. He is a performer of deeds and not a seeker of notoriety.

Joffre is quiet and reserved; so is Barry. Joffre scorps fuss and feathers; so does Barry. Joffre hits hard and first; so does Barry. Joffre is first and last a fighter, and so is Barry.

Many thousands fathers and mothers whose sons will fight on foreign soil would feel easier in their minds if the government sent General Barry as the commander of the American forces. He is an officer who can inflict the greatest damage upon an enemy with the least injury to our own men.

Instead of vassalizing from indecision he would be inflicting his personality upon the Germans in such a manner that history would never forget.

He would be the Joffre of America.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood.
They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—which vary widely but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome.

Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

Geo. A. Collen, Spruce St., Gray, says: "A few times in the past several years I have had attacks of kidney complaint. My back was a constant source of discomfort and it ached terribly thru the small of it and was sore. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and highly colored. I always found that a box or so of Doan's Kidney pills, which I got at Lewis' Drug store, proved sufficient to cure the attack. I recommend this medicine as a good, reliable remedy."

The Best Remedy for Whooping Cough.

"Last winter when my little boy had the whooping cough I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs.
J. B. Roberts, East St. Louis, Ill. "It kept his cough loose and relieved him of those dreadful coughing spells. It is the only cough medicine I keep in the house because I have the most confidence in it." This remedy is also good for colds and croup.

Proper Food for Weak Stomachs.

The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Every one should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels.
They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.
